Suburban School Burns

Three Probes Started on School Fire

Cheektowaga, April 1 (AP)—Three investigations were opened today into a fire that snuffed out the lives of 10 sixth grade pupils and destroyed the frame annex of an elementary school in this heavily-populated Buffalo suburb.

The fire, which flashed through the 100-foot-long building just before the noon recess yesterday, caused injury to 23 other persons, including four 11-year-olds whose burns were considered critical.

The dead included six girls and four boys. Their badly-charred bodies were found pressed against what was left of a window wall. A few feet away were a doorway and broken windows—avenues of escape the youngsters never found.

Nineteen other pupils, three teachers and the principal of the school were hospitalized with burns or injuries. Two of the 31 pupils in the buildings escaped uninjured.

Checks Criminal Angle

John Dwyer, Erie county district attorney, opened an investigation to determine if there had been any criminal negligence on the part of anyone concerned.

Other inquiries were launched by an engineer for the State Education Department and by the local board of education.

The dead children were in a music class when the fire broke out. Three adults in the room at the time shared credit for leading those who escaped to safety.

The adults were the regular teacher, Mrs. Melba Seibold, Miss June Mahany of Buffalo, a pretty 20-year-old practice teacher, and Robert K. Winters of Syracuse, a salesman.

Two Are Fair

Winters escaped with minor injuries, but Miss Mahany, who suffered burns of the legs and cuts, was in fair condition today. Mrs. Seibold also was in fair condition.

Miss Mahany, who was planning to be married next June, said from her hospital bed "there was a loud noise, very sudden."

"I guess it was an explosion, it must have been," she continued. "The door from the classroom to the hall was open at the time and I suddenly saw smoke pour down the hall."

She said she and Mrs. Seibold smashed locked windows with their hands and pushed the children out.

"I think we got them all." Miss Mahany added, "I hope so."

At that point, no one had told her of the dead children.

June Mahaney, 20-year-old teacher who led children from a burning school building after smashing a locked window with her hands, lies in a hospital bed at Cheektowaga, N. Y. Her mother, Mrs. Catherine Mahaney, tends her. Ten children died in the blaze at the frame annex of an elementary school at Cheektowaga. (AP Wirephoto).

Will Push for 'Break'

Washington, April 1 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said he will move today to force "a break" in the search for a special counsel to handle a Senate investigation of charges Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and high army officials have aimed at each other. The Senate investigations subcommittee voted March 16 to conduct public, televised hearings to seek the truth among the charges and counter charges. For 15 successive days since then Mundt and others working with him have drawn only blanks in their quest for a neutral, competent lawyer to take the job.

Women Drinkers Increase

Noordwijk, Netherlands, April 1 (AP)—Women drinkers are increasing in numbers, world health organization experts were told here yesterday. They are becoming a serious problem in The Netherlands, Austria, France and Ireland. In Vienna, said Dr. E. P. Berner of Austria, women alcoholics have increased from 5 to 13 per cent since 1910. Divorces among them are much higher than among the general population. Dr. L. Fouks of France said in his country women alcoholics are also increasing.

Meeting for Industry Spread In Hudson Valley Attracts 100

Representatives of Chambers of Commerce of the Hudson valley, leading industrialists, railroad and transportation men and public utilities officials met Wednesday afternoon at the Ulster county court house here to discuss with representatives of the United States Department of Commerce, plans to form a Hudson Valley wide organization to attract new industries to the area.

Approximately 100 attended the meeting, including men from the valley area extending from Hudson and Catskill to Nyack, Haverstraw and Rockland county townships on the west shore of the river and Poughkeepsie and Westchester county communities on the east bank.

Kurdt Presides

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Establishment of a centralized effort among Chambers of Commerce and other business interests to attract new industries to the Hudson River valley on a regional basis was urged by M. N. Harocopo, deputy manager of the New York field office of the United States Department of Commerce.

Accompanying Harocopo, and addressing the group was Benjamin Gordon, business analyst of the New York Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

To Form Committee

At the conclusion of the meeting and following a discussion on how such a Hudson Valley organization might be formed it was voted to have each Chamber of Commerce representative present go back to his own community, discuss the matter with officials of his Chamber and then if the proposal meets the approval of the directors, the president of each Chamber will designate a member for a committee which will meet at a later date and effect a permanent organization.

The Department of Commerce representatives, M. N. Harocopo of Rhinebeck, deputy manager of the New York office, and Benjamin Gordon, business analyst, were invited to address the meeting.

Want New Industry

The Kingston meeting was called by the Department of Commerce in behalf of the Co-operative Officers in connection with plans for bringing new industries to the Hudson river.

There are nearly 100 Co-operative Offices in New York State and New Jersey through which business men have access to the services and publications of the Department of Commerce. Access to this information may be either direct to the New York office or through the local Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman Kurdt read a telegram addressed to the meeting from Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

50 Rotarians, Wives Take Ride On Last Trip Over Rail Line

The Kingston Rotary Club joined in a special farewell salute to the Old Ulster and Delaware Railroad Wednesday on the occasion of the termination of the regular passenger service over the scenic but crooked and tortuous route into the Catskill Mountains.

Some 50 Rotarians and Rotary Anns were the guests of the Stamford Rotary Club and they made the trip to the famous resort over the railway system that conveyed millions of vacationists to the Stamford area since it first began operations to this point in 1872.

Besides the Rotarians and their wives a great many other people rode the last train and in the cab of the engine was Surrogate John B. Sterley, whose father for many years was an engineer on the New York Central System. Extra coaches were hooked up for the final run and all along the route beginning at West Hurley passengers boarded the train.

On the trip there were brief ceremonies at all the stations with many of the townspeople on hand to bid their farewells.

On the Rotary special coach, a gala time was had by all. President Larry Bogert supervised the serving of breakfast and Sam Scudder presided at the

Shelter Is Impossible For Safety

Northward Evacuation Seems Only Solution With Traffic Jams Slowing Trek

New York, April 1 (AP)—Official declaration that a hydrogen bomb could destroy any city—including New York—led to a quick change in Civil Defense planning for this metropolis.

Evacuation of the city in the event of atomic attack heretofore had been dismissed as impossible.

Now there seems no alternative—in view of the White House statement by Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Shortly after Strauss told newsmen about the terrible H-bomb potential, city Civil Defense Director Herbert R. O'Brien said: "It is a fantastic thought, but God knows with this latest news from Washington evacuation is the only solution. The shelter idea is out."

Not Useless, Is Advice

The Civil Defense office here urged people "not to be scared out of their wits entirely . . . into a state of thinking that it is useless to do anything about it."

But what Civil Defense faces is the staggering picture of the greatest refugee horde in history—eight million New Yorkers, another million and a half persons who work and visit here daily, and some five million more who live within the terrible embrace of a possible H-blast.

Will Go Northward

Evacuation is being considered in terms of a northward trek into already outlined upstate "support" areas. These are not hemmed in, as is most of the city, by bodies of water.

To the west is New Jersey, but practical access to it across the Hudson river is limited to two tunnels and a bridge. It would take 7½ days, O'Brien figures, for the 1,800,000 vehicles in the New York area to clear them.

In the face of a monumental traffic jam, the best bet might be to walk.

The Civil Defense director said he would need at least three days to evacuate the city. His problem is to reconcile this with the possible warning time of an H-bomb attack, an hour or two.

From now on, he says, there will be but one announcement: "Clear the city!"

That done, there will arise the immediate problem of food and housing. New Yorkers, for example, drink four million quarts of milk a day.

But the city went about its business today, with a little more attention, perhaps, to road maps.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury March 30: Balance, $6,198,350,445.39; deposits fiscal year July, $52,268,680,530.89; withdrawals fiscal year, $53,391,609,748.51; total debt (x) $270,277,428,760.75; gold assets, $21,965,058,889.32; (x)—includes $555,964,389.58 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Newkirk Gets Secretary Post On Public Service Commission

Former Mayor of City Starts With Albany Office Force on Friday

Alton G. Marshall, secretary of the New York State Public Service Commission today announced appointment of former Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk as assistant secretary to the commission.

The former mayor, Marshall said, is scheduled to assume his duties tomorrow in the commission's Albany office at 55 Elk street. He will be associated with administrative and fiscal operations in the office.

The five-man commission, appointed by the governor, is headed by Benjamin F. Feinberg, of Plattsburg, who was appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey on March 30, 1949.

Was Mayor Six Years

Newkirk was first elected as mayor in November, 1947. He took office on Jan. 1, 1948 and served until Dec. 31, 1953. A few years prior to his election as mayor he had served as alderman of the Second Ward.

Newkirk, who was not a candidate in the last mayoralty campaign, indicated interest in the position of assistant director of internal revenue in the Albany district, and he was top man on an eligibility list. The list was subsequently canceled, and when another examination was announced the mayor indicated interest, which has undoubtedly been canceled out by his recent appointment.

One Division Abolished

Feinberg as chairman of the commission is head of the Department of Public Service. Up to April 1, 1943, this department consisted of two divisions, the Public Service Commission, which was Washington, April 1 (AP)—Prices on hundreds of items went down today as a result of two government actions. Affected are items bought by every family. For most purchases, the savings will be only in pennies, but they will add up for most families into many dollars.

Excise or sales taxes go down, by an aggregate of about a billion dollars a year, on such items as stoves, refrigerators, luggage, jewelry, furs, cosmetics, sporting goods, many admissions, telephone

Sprague Electric Is Certified for Excellent Program

For the second consecutive year, the Sprague Electric Company of which the Kingston plant is one of several branches, has been certified as "excellently managed" by the American Institute of Management.

According to Jackson Martindell, president of the non-profit foundation, the company was rated in the top half of the 348 companies in the United States and Canada which were found eligible for the designation for 1953, out of 3,000 leading concerns whose methods were evaluated.

Step in Improvement

"Recognition of superior management in particular companies is the first step in improving corporate practices generally throughout the country," Martindell said. "The philosophy behind these awards is to focus attention upon those companies whose practices should be emulated by others, to increase efficiency and insure stability for employes, shareholders and the economy as a whole."

When auditing a management, he explained, the institute uses a point system for rating 10 key factors—economic function, corporation growth, fairness to stockholders, directorate analysis, research and development, fiscal policies, production efficiency, sales vigor and executive valuation.

Has Other Plants

In addition to its three plants in operation in North Adams, Mass., and a wholly owned subsidiary, the Sprague Products Company, also located in North Adams, Sprague Electric has a branch plant in Nashua, N. H., and Kingston; a department at Bennington, Vt.; a wholly owned subsidiary—the Herlec Corporation, in Grafton, Wis., and an operation in Barre, Vt. Further expansions include plants in Ashe county, N. C., and Ponce, Puerto Rico. The company is the world's largest manufacturer of capacitors, and makes many other electronic components.

Various types of resistors are manufactured at the local branch plant, which now employes over 150 men and women.

All Island Disappears With Blast

President Reveals Bomb Set Off in 1952 Only First Step in Making Stronger Weapons

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The government disclosed today details of the world's first hydrogen explosion—a searing and crushing fury that wiped out an island in the twinkling of an eye and spawned a gigantic fireball big enough to engulf the heart of New York city.

The official motion picture film of the thermonuclear test in November 1952, conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department at Eniwetok atoll, was made public—insomewhat censored form AAA by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

That agency said it "firmly believes it is necessary for the American public to know the facts about the destructiveness of nuclear weapons." And it quoted from the speech of President Eisenhower before the United Nations Assembly last December which said "clearly, if the peoples of the world are to conduct an intelligent search for peace, they must be armed with the significant facts of today' existence."

Only First Step

Awesome as it was, the 1952 test has been described by Eisenhower as only a first step in this nation's hydrogen weapons program.

There have been two announced thermonuclear blasts in the Pacific proving ground since then, and both have been semi-officially described as much more powerful. One was set off March 1, the other last Friday.

Here are some of the things the motion picture of the 1952 test and the official narration accompanying it disclosed:

1. The test device was exploded in a "cab," a small workshop jammed with recording and detonating gadgets, on the islet of Egulab, at the northern rim of Eniwetok atoll.

Island Vanishes

2. The island, about a half mile long and a quarter mile wide and

Radioactive Snow Found in Wyoming

Billings, Mont., April 1 (AP)—Radioactive snow has fallen in an area between here and Sheridan, Wyo., to the south, a local consulting geologist reported yesterday.

Chuck Hauptman, using a geiger counter, said radiation was measured at about three milliroentgens an hour—about 200 times the amount of ordinary "background" radiation picked up by instruments but still very small.

He said the element of danger in the radioactive snow was "practically nil."

In Cambridge, Mass., scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology reported slight signs of radioctivity in the air since March 10. A spokesman said the measurements, noted only in rain, show the "radiation is insignificant as far as health and safety is concerned."

Louis G. Bruhn, Ulster county chairman of the cancer financial campaign, which will be held during the month of April, in addressing members of the Ulster County Chapter Wednesday evening at Bethany Hall of the First Dutch Church, told the gathering of volunteer workers that "the person you help may be you."

Bruhn said he was encouraged by the spontaneous response of Kingston workers and looked forward to a highly successful campaign. Ulster county's goal is $16,000.

Attorney Hugh Elwyn, city chairman, made a plea for generous donations from residents of Kingston, when they are asked for financial aid.

Dr. Habeeb Maroon, the principal speaker, explained the application of a newly-developed knowledge and methods in bringing cancer control to more of a reality every day.

Walter R. Seamen, president of Ulster County Chapter, opened the meeting and Dr. Edward F. Shea introduced Dr. Maroon.

Citations for cooperation in publicizing the work of the Ulster County Chapter were presented to the local newspapers and radio station by Attorney Floyd R. Le Fever.

All Island Disappears With Blast

President Reveals Bomb Set Off in 1952 Only First Step in Making Stronger Weapons

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The government disclosed today details of the world's first hydrogen explosion—a searing and crushing fury that wiped out an island in the twinkling of an eye and spawned a gigantic fireball big enough to engulf the heart of New York city.

The official motion picture film of the thermonuclear test in November 1952, conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department at Eniwetok atoll, was made public—insomewhat censored form AAA by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

That agency said it "firmly believes it is necessary for the American public to know the facts about the destructiveness of nuclear weapons." And it quoted from the speech of President Eisenhower before the United Nations Assembly last December which said "clearly, if the peoples of the world are to conduct an intelligent search for peace, they must be armed with the significant facts of today' existence."

Only First Step

Awesome as it was, the 1952 test has been described by Eisenhower as only a first step in this nation's hydrogen weapons program.

There have been two announced thermonuclear blasts in the Pacific proving ground since then, and both have been semi-officially described as much more powerful. One was set off March 1, the other last Friday.

Here are some of the things the motion picture of the 1952 test and the official narration accompanying it disclosed:

1. The test device was exploded in a "cab," a small workshop jammed with recording and detonating gadgets, on the islet of Egulab, at the northern rim of Eniwetok atoll.

Radioactive Snow Found in Wyoming

Billings, Mont., April 1 (AP)—Radioactive snow has fallen in an area between here and Sheridan, Wyo., to the south, a local consulting geologist reported yesterday.

Chuck Hauptman, using a geiger counter, said radiation was measured at about three milliroentgens an hour—about 200 times the amount of ordinary "background" radiation picked up by instruments but still very small.

He said the element of danger in the radioactive snow was "practically nil."

In Cambridge, Mass., scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology reported slight signs of radioctivity in the air since March 10. A spokesman said the measurements, noted only in rain, show the "radiation is insignificant as far as health and safety is concerned."

Bruhn, Elwyn Urge Generosity To Hit Cancer Goal, $16,000

Louis G. Bruhn, Ulster county chairman of the cancer financial campaign, which will be held during the month of April, in addressing members of the Ulster County Chapter Wednesday evening at Bethany Hall of the First Dutch Church, told the gathering of volunteer workers that "the person you help may be you."

Bruhn said he was encouraged by the spontaneous response of Kingston workers and looked forward to a highly successful campaign. Ulster county's goal is $16,000.

Attorney Hugh Elwyn, city chairman, made a plea for generous donations from residents of Kingston, when they are asked for financial aid.

Dr. Habeeb Maroon, the principal speaker, explained the application of a newly-developed knowledge and methods in bringing cancer control to more of a reality every day.

Walter R. Seamen, president of Ulster County Chapter, opened the meeting and Dr. Edward F. Shea introduced Dr. Maroon.

Citations for cooperation in publicizing the work of the Ulster County Chapter were presented to the local newspapers and radio station by Attorney Floyd R. Le Fever.

Mrs. William Haggerty of New Paltz gave an illustrated talk on India.

Leg of lamb probably will cost more in your store. Increases of two to six cents a pound over week-ago prices will be the general rule. And pork chops will be higher by four to as much as a dime a pound in the majority of markets.

Pork may go higher still, but production will start climbing this summer and that should bring a decline in prices.

Wholesale chicken prices have edged up in recent weeks, but food men say present prices are still low. Fryers will be featured in a number of stores for the weekend with reductions of two to six cents a pound.

Egg prices will be unchanged to off two to four cents a dozen. Poultry men say eggs probably will stay around present levels for some time.

Others Take Drop

This is the day the government reduces its support prices on dairy products to 75 per cent from 90 per cent of parity. Butter prices already have tumbled as much as eight cents a pound in some markets. Evaporated milk is expected to drop about a penny a can. Processed cheese is coming down, and there have been some reductions of two to three cents a pound in aged cheddar, which may decline a bit more later. In some areas, fluid milk prices will decline slightly, although this may not happen immediately.

Celery, peppers and spinach will join the list of good buys in vegetables this weekend, and a number of stores will feature broccoli. Other worthwhile vegetable buys: Potatoes, onions, cabbage, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, endives, escarole and various greens.

Grapefruit remains the best buy in citrus fruits. In the wholesale markets, oranges and tangerines moved higher while apples were unchanged. Some stores will feature winesap apples for the weekend.

Shokan

Shokan, March 31—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rich and daughter of Richmond Hill spent the weekend with Mrs. Rich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Farrell of the village center. Sam now has employment at his trade of ornamental iron worker in Westbury.

Callers here Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, Otsego county, couple, who live 12 miles north of Oneonta on Route 205.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cook and son of New York were at their new bungalow near DuBois Corners for the weekend.

Elbert Soper, Kingston city patrolman who is retiring from the force March 31 after 36 years service, was well-known in this section of Olive in his younger days. Bert, whose boyhood home was on Fair street where the Stuyvesant Hotel now stands, and his brother, Dan, used to come up to their grandfather's place along the Plank road and play baseball with the Olive Branch team.

George Rothman of Olive Bridge was a caller here Friday. George, an ironworker who formerly worked on the Delaware county reservoir job, is currently employed on Thruway bridges in the Kingston area.

Harrison Gridley of Shady, one of the county's best known retired school teachers, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday. Harrison reports his wife, the former Mary Haver of Samsonville, is not in good health this spring.

Cal Timer says the annual influx of rowboats to the Ashokan reservoir fishing grounds reminds him of days when "the county was full of boats and scows." Nelson Houghtaling of Rondout in the '80's used to ferry workmen across the 'Up-the-Dock' slip about nine months of the year. He had worked for the D & H Canal Company 40 years, sculling persons across the slip. O. T. says Nelson figured he was the 'boss scower' by reason of having ferried to and from the Island Dock some 300 men a day, or a total of 2,592,000 persons, all told, in two score years.

CONGRESS AND GOP

In an election year, Congress, likes to adjourn by July if possible. If you assume that as a fairly firm deadline, the present session is about half over. But Congress has not done even a quarter of its prospective work.

When you examine its three months' performance, you realize most of the time has been consumed in a struggle for power and prestige with the executive establishment. First, the long debate and action on the Bricker amendment and related proposals. Second, and continuing, the various controversies between the Army and Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Depending on your viewpoint, these may or may not be regarded as necessary contests serving the interests of the American people. But there can be no question they take time from what used to be regarded as the legislature's main business: making laws.

With each passing week, it will be increasingly difficult for the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill to drive to passage a significant proportion of the items in President Eisenhower's full program.

And this points up a curious irony. A lot of Republican lawmakers behave as if they cannot win re-election this fall unless they trumpet the theme of communism in government. This is based on the assumption that the President's policies are "unpopular."

Nobody denies that a good many farmers are displeased with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and unhappy over the President's farm proposals. No one denies, either, that Big Labor thinks the administration derelict in meeting what it sees as a definite business recession.

But reports are that congressional mail is running heavily in favor of Mr. Eisenhower's new programs, and those lawmakers who have checked their constituents generally have found a similar response. Thus the adoption of a big share of the President's measures would presumably give them a lot of campaign ammunition.

The less Congress does in the next three months, the less of this ammunition GOP politicians will have. But how much of it they get is a matter under their control.

If it is little, that will be because that is the way they want it.

BIG LEAGUE POSSIBILITY

The return of Milwaukee and Baltimore to major league baseball is not expected to exhaust the list of changes in big league membership. The Philadelphia Athletics are weak financially, and not strong on the field. Their chances of drawing crowds have been weakened by the addition of neighboring Baltimore to the American League, especially as Washington also is not far away.

As candidates for the succession, Los Angeles and San Francisco have been suggested oftenest, with occasional mention of Houston. Now appears a new possibility. A committee in Minneapolis and St. Paul, using a market survey, estimates that the average attendance in the Twin Cities, if they were granted a big league franchise, would be 754,000. A pennant winner would draw 1,237,400. The lower figure would hardly be enough to warrant putting a team in the Twin Cities. Attendance of at least a million is necessary for a safe margin of profit.

Perhaps the Minnesotans recall the experience of Milwaukee, where a mediocre Boston team, transferred there, played over its heads, and drew great crowds. If the baseball magnates could be sure that the like would happen in Minneapolis and St. Paul, they would hasten to put a team there.

DOCTORS IN CONGRESS

Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the late President Roosevelt's personal physician, is running for Congress. He has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the San Diego, Cal., district. Admiral McIntire has retired from the Navy.

There have not been many doctors in Congress. European voters, on the other hand, elect them freely to their parliaments. Naturally they have much value to add through their special professional training. Americans seem to think lawyers can handle legislation better than other people. Maybe they can—but sometimes we are not so sure. Representatives should represent the people who elect them. And there are a great many different kinds of people to be represented.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

This much will come out of the McCarthy-Stevens conflict: the entire subject of Congressional committees, their nature, purpose and procedures will have to be reviewed and decisions taken by the Congress itself concerning their future. Few Congressional committees have ever functioned satisfactorily to those investigated. Putting a midget in the lap of J. P. Morgan did not prove anything.

Always important are the fundamental rights of citizens and while it is to be recognized that Communists are, by their disciplines, agents of a foreign power, nevertheless, as citizens of the United States, they enjoy constitutional rights which cannot be impaired. The conflict here is not only in the law but in the spirit of the times. No law exists, not even the Smith Act, which outlaws the Communist Party and which makes it illegal for an American to accept the Marxist Church as a way of life.

The confusions before Congressional committees mirror the confusions in American thought from the impact of a new religion, the Marxist Church, and a new Universal State, Soviet Russia. Our thinking on the subject is limited to our small experience with social revolutions.

When Big Bill Haywood, Ben Reitman, Carlo Tresca and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn advocated the anarcho-syndicalism of the I.W.W., nobody worried too much about them, any more than Emma Goldman's brand of anarchism left even a scratch on the surface of our history. Even Eugene V. Debs, who fashioned American Socialism, or Morris Hillquit or Victor Berger left few footprints on the sands of American thought.

The Marxists divide themselves into many groups. Our difficulties arise from the tendency to throw them into one package and call them all Communists, which quickly translates itself into the word, spy. Let me differentiate these groups:

1. Intellectual Marxists: These are men and women who accept the doctrine of dialectical materialism as a suitable solution to man's problems. They reject the mystical concepts of Christianity, particularly the creation of man by God and the revelation of Natural Law by which a moral society exists not by human evolution and development but by the authority of the Creator.

Many such intellectual Marxists may be opposed to Soviet Russia as a Universal State and to the Communist Party as an agency of discipline. To outsiders, it would appear that they talk one way and act another and therefore in Congressional investigations, they are often placed in an ambiguous and embarrassing position.

2. Anti-Communist Marxists: Since 1848, Marxist ideas have affected and influenced great numbers of persons in all countries. As a doctrine, Marxism has proved to be particularly attractive to social and natural scientists. The Social Democratic parties in all countries based themselves on Marxism. Until the organization of the disciplined Russian Bolshevik group in 1903, numerous interpretations of Marxism appeared. The Russian party was split on doctrine until Lenin took over in 1917 and established a rigid orthodoxy.

The turnover of supporters has been enormous, particularly among intellectuals. Many fled the orthodox Communist Party because of its limitations upon the human spirit; nevertheless they did not desert the sociology of Marxism. Among such as to be found the most violent and effective anti-Communists.

3. The Communists: These are party members, accepting the rigid disciplines of revolutionary partisanship, never rejecting the absurdities of twisting party lines, devoting themselves to underground responsibilities even if they involve espionage and treason. Theirs but to obey in the hope that the revolution will ultimately free men from class, racial, national, religious distinctions, and that all men will eventually be brothers in the bosom of the Kremlin.

The difficulty has been that the American Congressional committees investigating Communism do not always make such distinctions. Too often, they do not know enough about the subject to understand how a scientist, for instance, can accept the environmentalist theories inherent in Marxism and not be a spy for Malenkov. It will be necessary for them to inform themselves on the subject, to differentiate between ideas and action if all anti-Communist efforts are not to become absurd.

Anti-Communism has suffered a setback in the United States during the past year because its broad generalizations, particularly concerning intellectuals, have been rejected as incredulous. As a matter of fact, if the capitalistic anti-Communists could make common cause with the Marxist anti-Communists, the small but hellish band of conspirators would be driven from our land.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE GREAT BLOOD BUILDER VITAMIN B12

At various times each of the vitamins has been placed at the head of the list as being the most important — vitamin B, vitamin B complex, vitamin C, and others. Today, if you were to ask your physician which vitamin he considered most important in medicine, he would likely tell you that for all round effectiveness in building up the body and enriching the blood, vitamin B12 really heads the list.

In the British Medical Journal, London, Drs. D. L. Mollin, G. I. M. Ross, C. R. Des Cupla, J. B. Chatterjea and B. Basu discuss their experiences with vitamin B12 from the standpoint of nutrition.

Early studies showed that the injection of vita-B12 was the most effective method of treatment in pernicious anemia patients. Some physicians objected to the taking of vitamin B12 by mouth as they felt that much of the drug's effectiveness was lost because of the action of the stomach digestive juices. Today, several firms are manufacturing vitamin B12 to be used by mouth as they have been able to prevent this interference by the stomach digestive juices. However, many physicians are continuing to use the original method of injections of vitamin B12 directly into the muscles.

Thus, the physicians' above-mentioned report that the serum level of anemia rose to fairly high levels from single intramuscular injections of vitamin B12 and remained so for periods of from 2 to 98 days. There was some increase in richness of the blood (increase in red cells) but the blood did not reach normal limits. For ideal results, however, the use of vitamin B12 must be constant as with insulin for diabetes. Vitamin B12 not only increases the blood-making power of the blood but increases the blood reserve of the entire body.

Folic acid, which is also a great blood builder, helped increase the effectiveness of vitamin B12 but many physicians found that the nervous symptoms usually present in pernicious anemia are not relieved by folic acid.

It is fortunate that the physician can now prescribe this wonderful drug to be taken by mouth with equal effectiveness as when given by injection into the muscles.

"They Were Here a Minute Ago"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — In the four months that Harold C. McClellan, Los Angeles paint and chemical man, has been president of the National Association of Manufacturers, he has made two complete trips around the United States.

Hitting many factory towns and cities on his tours, he has talked to hundreds of manufacturers, and been talked at by them.

McClellan's conclusions from all these interviews is that United States business now enjoys a mature economy. There is no longer any need for boom or bust in business cycles.

He does not find that the U. S. economy is now in any recession. Stock values, as represented on the rising stock market, are sound. This rise of many manufacturing stocks to postwar highs does not mean that the United States is going through another boom, McClellan cautions. There is no large volume of stock buying on margin—no speculative boom like there was in the late 1920's, he points out.

The present status of the country as a whole, says the NAM president, is that it's in a period of transition. The government is moving towards a balanced budget. Government spending in the next fiscal year will be nearly $6 billion less than this year.

The government is relieving the taxpayer of that much in taxes, and that's healthful. Whatever ill effects there are in a transition period—like temporarily reduced employment—can be weathered, says McClellan.

As for the future, McClellan goes pretty far over on the optimistic side. People used to talk about the United States having a maximum population of 150 million, he recalls. But the population today is 161 million. By 1975 it may be 190 million. That, to a businessman, means simply that many more customers.

It means that corporate investment by 1975 should be double what it is today, McClellan maintains, and he also says that the United States is still somewhat behind on its capital investments.

Of the $80 billion of new capital invested since the end of the war, only 20 per cent went into business expansion, he says. The other 80 per cent actually represented replacement of old manufacturing capacity rather than the creation of new capacity.

McClellan says he believes that this situation will be changed as corporation taxes are further reduced. Like nearly all businessmen, he believes the present 52 per cent tax rate on corporation taxes is too high. Thirty per cent of the government's income now comes from corporation taxes, he declares.

"We're not in business to keep the government rolling," he says. "We make the country roll because we make our own companies roll."

This year's federal tax cuts—now estimated at $7 billion—is the largest reduction, dollar-wise, in U. S. history. But it still isn't enough to satisfy the N.A.M. president. He does not compromise on any plan to cut corporation taxes and raise individual exemptions at the same time—say next year.

"The burden of taxes should be shared by all," says McClellan. But he thinks the government should look further at excise taxes to see if they couldn't be reduced still more.

On the labor front, N.A.M. President McClellan lines up as being considerably more pessimistic than he is on the business outlook. He does not regard the present three to four million unemployed — calculated on a new scale — as excessive. In recent times the country has had what he calls "full employment plus," in which there was a real shortage of competent workers.

He would "hate to see the unemployment insurance rate raised now." This law was enacted in 1935 and we still don't know enough about it to make it work, he says. California, for example, was for a time paying out $10 million a month more than it took in.

Similarly, on social security, McClellan maintains not that it should be terminated—but that it should not be changed further until the benefits and the needs of the people are better known. The law has already been changed five times.

McClellan says, "I don't think much of the minimum-wage program."

Of Great Britain's 23 million employed people, about 9½ million belong to unions.

History of Weapons Tends to Stress Nations Won't Stop Wars Because of H-Bomb

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 1—"No more world wars?" That's the wishful query which the terrifying tests of the H-bomb has propounded but there is nothing in human experience which indicates that nations have ever been scared into peace just because terrible weapons have been invented.

After the close of World War 1, the late President Wilson made speeches about the awful bombing and devastation that would come if another world war were fought, and he told his audiences of the new inventions of weapons of horror—the block busters that would kill civilians—but these didn't stop World War 2 from breaking out.

The alternate testing of the H-bomb by Soviet Russia and by the United States is reminescent of every armament race in history. Each side thinks the other will be frightened into selfrestraint and that aggression will never occur again. But it does. And the reason it does is that neither side, when it starts a little war or defends itsself against a local aggression thinks the conflict will develop into anything bigger.

The most conspicuous fact about today's situation in the world is that neither Soviet Russia nor the United States will want to use the H-bomb but nobody can be sure that either side will not do so if it thinks it must defend itself against the use of such a weapon by the enemy.

The Secretary of Defense has said that he cannot imagine the United States developing atomic weapons and not using them. Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says that if there is to be any limitation of armament by agreement, it cannot be on the basis of atomic weapons only and that there must be limitation on ground armies as well and on conventional weapons, too.

This is an important observation because obviously if H-bombs and A-bombs were to be outlawed or by mutual consent withheld from employment, just as was the case with poison gas in World War 2, the superior strength of Soviet Russia's ground armies would be decisive in Europe.

The "new look" for America's military establishment has been predicated on the use of atomic weapons. Air power has been strengthened on the theory that America must be able, if necessary, to carry the bomb from overseas bases and from the decks of naval aircraft carriers. If the big bombs were outlawed, it would mean a complete revision of the military setup of the United States. This, according to the President, is not contemplated.

But, even assuming that neither side wants to start a big war, the danger is that Soviet Russia might continue to carry on the "cold war" by intensifying the war in Indo-China so that it becomes a second Korea. What then would American policy be?

Former Secretary of State Acheson has stated publicly his belief that America must be resigned to little wars and particularly to more wars like Korea. But President Eisenhower has, in effect, repudiated the Acheson concept. At the Wednesday press conference, the President was asked if American troops were to be deployed all around the world. He answered that he can conceive of no greater disadvantage to America than to be employing its own ground forces, and any other kind of forces, in great numbers around the world meeting each little situation as it arises.

Mr. Eisenhower added that the United States is trying to make her friends strong enough to take care of local situations by themselves with financial, moral and political aid but with military help only where America's vital interests demand it.

This is the most important statement of American policy that could be made at the moment. It is an authoritative pronouncement of how the United States plans to help enforce world peace. But the President was careful to point out that each case has its own degree of risk for the United States and each must be met on its merits, and he would not generalize.

Such a pronouncement wisely leaves unanswered the question of when America will refuse to be drawn further into a lot of local wars and will consider what can be done to cure the infection at its source. That is what "massive retaliation," as proclaimed by Secretary Dulles, could mean and, despite criticism here and there from the appeasers or the politicians who feel they must oppose for partisan reasons American military and foreign policy, the decision will stick. Soviet Russia is on notice that she cannot expect to drain American resources and those of the free world by a series of local wars like Korea without running the risk of drastic action being taken against herself as a partner in any future aggressions.

War is a terrible thing, but America is not going to follow the pacifist line and find herself eventually dragged into war anyhow. The surest deterrent to a world war is adequate preparation militarily, a resolute and clear-cut policy announced in advance to the world, and our willingness to go to war, if need be, no matter what the cost, if the enemy takes steps that really threaten our safety. President Eisenhower is a military man. He doesn't want war, but he doesn't think it can be avoided merely by hoping the devil will become a saint.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—There is a fascinating quality in the audacity of a New York woman of middle-age who publishes the New York Post, in rolling on her tongue as it were, salacious scandals which have no effect but to humiliate innocent persons. This woman's name is Dorothy Schiff, although she has had four husbands to date and is known fitfully by their names, too, which are Hall, Backer, Thackrey and Sonneborn.

Her paper and her editor are currently in court proceedings against Walter Winchell, alleging that he said the paper and the editor were communistic to a great or less extent. The editor is James Wechsler who admits that he was a member of the Young Communist League, but insists that he apostatized. His wife makes the same admission and contention as to herself.

Mrs. Schiff is a member of the rich family of New York bankers of the House of Kuhn-Loeb which, in the First World War, was to the German empire as J. P. Morgan was to the British empire and France. In that figurative sense, Kuhn-Loeb lost the war and the house of Morgan won it. Both houses were, and remain, "internationalist." As to the communism of the Post under the Schiff woman the court will decide.

As to the sentiments of the House of Morgan, I will say that I met the late Tom Lamont socially in the company of two leading Communists, not knowing, myself, that they were to be present or, indeed, as firmly as I know now, that they were Communists. But later I called on Lamont's son, Tom, at J. P. Morgan and Co., and charged that his father was "working both sides of the street." Old Tom had subsidized his other son, Corliss, for an income of $60,000 a year, after taxes. The record of Corliss Lamont, as to communism, need not be examined in detail here. Young Tom excused his father's indulgence on the ground that the old man had no right to dictate his son's political activities and belief. Actually, the Red political influence in the Lamont family was exercised by the mother, a quarrelsome, extravagant, arbitrary old woman who was described by a leading member of the American mission at the Versailles Conference and also by an ex-President of the United States as the "Reddest" American in Paris at that time.

In 1907 Foulke E. Brandt, a young Swede, employed by Mortimer L. Schiff, of the Kuhn-Loeb firm, was fired from his job as butler. The cause alleged but at a later date, was that he had written an "impudent" letter to Mrs. Schiff, the banker's wife and mother of the present publisher, who was then a little girl.

Brandt was railroaded to prison for 30 years and was sent to Dannemora, the "Siberia" of the New York prison system.

Ferdinand Pecora, a retired judge of the Supreme Court of New York county, recently told me that the sentence was in his professional opinion "absolutely atrocious." The prisoner, a boy of 21 and a "greenhorn" in a strange land, had made a plea of guilty to a charge of burglarly where no burglary had been committed. And he had received the absolute maximum although he made a plea of guilty and the theft alleged against him had been trifling. He also claimed, later, that he had been lured into his plea of guilty by promises of lenity.

In a subsequent crusade by William Randolph Hearst to revoke the outrage the fact was shown beyond question that a "criminal" record against Brandt had been faked by members of the police department. One of the policemen involved made a full confession, but the question as to who would have had a motive and the money to procure such false evidence never was cleared up. Brandt served seven years before Mr. Hearst compelled the courts to set him free. But even then, as Judge Pecora pointed out, the "pardon" issued by Governor Sulzer, who later was impeached and removed, was absolutely unconstitutional.

Sulzer based his "pardon" on an abject and degrading renunciation of his rights of freedom of speech and of the press by Brandt which was read aloud at a public hearing in the governor's chamber at the Capitol in Albany. Brandt was compelled to promise that he would never discuss or write about the details of the case and there was a proviso that the pardon would be revoked if he ever should do so.

Schiff wrote a letter insisting that Brandt should withdraw aspersions which he had made against members of the Schiff household. Sulzer gave him his way. Judge Otto Rosalsky, who sentenced Brandt, was in a fair way to get another crack at him when he came out, but technical legal moves sidetracked him. After Brandt was let go, a New York grand jury reported that there was absolutely no evidence of a burglary. The judge thereupon ordered the grand jury to go back and make another report eliminating this vindication of Brandt. The grand jury obeyed.

Because Brandt was from Sweden, Senator Knute E. Nelson, of Minnesota, took his part and many Swedish societies joined him and Mr. Hearst in rescuing the young man from the fate of a Swedish Dreyfus on an American Devil's Island.

One paper in a current account published this commentary:

"Far from the Bridge of Sighs (at the old tombs) at No. 52 William street, in the banking house of Kuhn-Loeb and Co., sat Mr. Schiff yesterday counting his money. The queen was in the house uptown eating bread and honey and referring all reporters to her husband."

Brandt later returned to Sweden.

CONGRESS AND GOP

In an election year, Congress, likes to adjourn by July if possible. If you assume that as a fairly firm deadline, the present session is about half over. But Congress has not done even a quarter of its prospective work.

When you examine its three months' performance, you realize most of the time has been consumed in a struggle for power and prestige with the executive establishment. First, the long debate and action on the Bricker amendment and related proposals. Second, and continuing, the various controversies between the Army and Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Depending on your viewpoint, these may or may not be regarded as necessary contests serving the interests of the American people. But there can be no question they take time from what used to be regarded as the legislature's main business: making laws.

With each passing week, it will be increasingly difficult for the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill to drive to passage a significant proportion of the items in President Eisenhower's full program.

And this points up a curious irony. A lot of Republican lawmakers behave as if they cannot win re-election this fall unless they trumpet the theme of communism in government. This is based on the assumption that the President's policies are "unpopular."

Nobody denies that a good many farmers are displeased with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and unhappy over the President's farm proposals. No one denies, either, that Big Labor thinks the administration derelict in meeting what it sees as a definite business recession.

But reports are that congressional mail is running heavily in favor of Mr. Eisenhower's new programs, and those lawmakers who have checked their constituents generally have found a similar response. Thus the adoption of a big share of the President's measures would presumably give them a lot of campaign ammunition.

The less Congress does in the next three months, the less of this ammunition GOP politicians will have. But how much of it they get is a matter under their control.

If it is little, that will be because that is the way they want it.

BIG LEAGUE POSSIBILITY

The return of Milwaukee and Baltimore to major league baseball is not expected to exhaust the list of changes in big league membership. The Philadelphia Athletics are weak financially, and not strong on the field. Their chances of drawing crowds have been weakened by the addition of neighboring Baltimore to the American League, especially as Washington also is not far away.

As candidates for the succession, Los Angeles and San Francisco have been suggested oftenest, with occasional mention of Houston. Now appears a new possibility. A committee in Minneapolis and St. Paul, using a market survey, estimates that the average attendance in the Twin Cities, if they were granted a big league franchise, would be 754,000. A pennant winner would draw 1,237,400. The lower figure would hardly be enough to warrant putting a team in the Twin Cities. Attendance of at least a million is necessary for a safe margin of profit.

Perhaps the Minnesotans recall the experience of Milwaukee, where a mediocre Boston team, transferred there, played over its heads, and drew great crowds. If the baseball magnates could be sure that the like would happen in Minneapolis and St. Paul, they would hasten to put a team there.

DOCTORS IN CONGRESS

Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the late President Roosevelt's personal physician, is running for Congress. He has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the San Diego, Cal., district. Admiral McIntire has retired from the Navy.

There have not been many doctors in Congress. European voters, on the other hand, elect them freely to their parliaments. Naturally they have much value to add through their special professional training. Americans seem to think lawyers can handle legislation better than other people. Maybe they can—but sometimes we are not so sure. Representatives should represent the people who elect them. And there are a great many different kinds of people to be represented.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

This much will come out of the McCarthy-Stevens conflict: the entire subject of Congressional committees, their nature, purpose and procedures will have to be reviewed and decisions taken by the Congress itself concerning their future. Few Congressional committees have ever functioned satisfactorily to those investigated. Putting a midget in the lap of J. P. Morgan did not prove anything.

Always important are the fundamental rights of citizens and while it is to be recognized that Communists are, by their disciplines, agents of a foreign power, nevertheless, as citizens of the United States, they enjoy constitutional rights which cannot be impaired. The conflict here is not only in the law but in the spirit of the times. No law exists, not even the Smith Act, which outlaws the Communist Party and which makes it illegal for an American to accept the Marxist Church as a way of life.

The confusions before Congressional committees mirror the confusions in American thought from the impact of a new religion, the Marxist Church, and a new Universal State, Soviet Russia. Our thinking on the subject is limited to our small experience with social revolutions.

When Big Bill Haywood, Ben Reitman, Carlo Tresca and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn advocated the anarcho-syndicalism of the I.W.W., nobody worried too much about them, any more than Emma Goldman's brand of anarchism left even a scratch on the surface of our history. Even Eugene V. Debs, who fashioned American Socialism, or Morris Hillquit or Victor Berger left few footprints on the sands of American thought.

The Marxists divide themselves into many groups. Our difficulties arise from the tendency to throw them into one package and call them all Communists, which quickly translates itself into the word, spy. Let me differentiate these groups:

1. Intellectual Marxists: These are men and women who accept the doctrine of dialectical materialism as a suitable solution to man's problems. They reject the mystical concepts of Christianity, particularly the creation of man by God and the revelation of Natural Law by which a moral society exists not by human evolution and development but by the authority of the Creator.

Many such intellectual Marxists may be opposed to Soviet Russia as a Universal State and to the Communist Party as an agency of discipline. To outsiders, it would appear that they talk one way and act another and therefore in Congressional investigations, they are often placed in an ambiguous and embarrassing position.

2. Anti-Communist Marxists: Since 1848, Marxist ideas have affected and influenced great numbers of persons in all countries. As a doctrine, Marxism has proved to be particularly attractive to social and natural scientists. The Social Democratic parties in all countries based themselves on Marxism. Until the organization of the disciplined Russian Bolshevik group in 1903, numerous interpretations of Marxism appeared. The Russian party was split on doctrine until Lenin took over in 1917 and established a rigid orthodoxy.

The turnover of supporters has been enormous, particularly among intellectuals. Many fled the orthodox Communist Party because of its limitations upon the human spirit; nevertheless they did not desert the sociology of Marxism. Among such as to be found the most violent and effective anti-Communists.

3. The Communists: These are party members, accepting the rigid disciplines of revolutionary partisanship, never rejecting the absurdities of twisting party lines, devoting themselves to underground responsibilities even if they involve espionage and treason. Theirs but to obey in the hope that the revolution will ultimately free men from class, racial, national, religious distinctions, and that all men will eventually be brothers in the bosom of the Kremlin.

The difficulty has been that the American Congressional committees investigating Communism do not always make such distinctions. Too often, they do not know enough about the subject to understand how a scientist, for instance, can accept the environmentalist theories inherent in Marxism and not be a spy for Malenkov. It will be necessary for them to inform themselves on the subject, to differentiate between ideas and action if all anti-Communist efforts are not to become absurd.

Anti-Communism has suffered a setback in the United States during the past year because its broad generalizations, particularly concerning intellectuals, have been rejected as incredulous. As a matter of fact, if the capitalistic anti-Communists could make common cause with the Marxist anti-Communists, the small but hellish band of conspirators would be driven from our land.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE GREAT BLOOD BUILDER VITAMIN B12

At various times each of the vitamins has been placed at the head of the list as being the most important — vitamin B, vitamin B complex, vitamin C, and others. Today, if you were to ask your physician which vitamin he considered most important in medicine, he would likely tell you that for all round effectiveness in building up the body and enriching the blood, vitamin B12 really heads the list.

In the British Medical Journal, London, Drs. D. L. Mollin, G. I. M. Ross, C. R. Des Cupla, J. B. Chatterjea and B. Basu discuss their experiences with vitamin B12 from the standpoint of nutrition.

Early studies showed that the injection of vita-B12 was the most effective method of treatment in pernicious anemia patients. Some physicians objected to the taking of vitamin B12 by mouth as they felt that much of the drug's effectiveness was lost because of the action of the stomach digestive juices. Today, several firms are manufacturing vitamin B12 to be used by mouth as they have been able to prevent this interference by the stomach digestive juices. However, many physicians are continuing to use the original method of injections of vitamin B12 directly into the muscles.

Thus, the physicians' above-mentioned report that the serum level of anemia rose to fairly high levels from single intramuscular injections of vitamin B12 and remained so for periods of from 2 to 98 days. There was some increase in richness of the blood (increase in red cells) but the blood did not reach normal limits. For ideal results, however, the use of vitamin B12 must be constant as with insulin for diabetes. Vitamin B12 not only increases the blood-making power of the blood but increases the blood reserve of the entire body.

Folic acid, which is also a great blood builder, helped increase the effectiveness of vitamin B12 but many physicians found that the nervous symptoms usually present in pernicious anemia are not relieved by folic acid.

It is fortunate that the physician can now prescribe this wonderful drug to be taken by mouth with equal effectiveness as when given by injection into the muscles.

"They Were Here a Minute Ago"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — In the four months that Harold C. McClellan, Los Angeles paint and chemical man, has been president of the National Association of Manufacturers, he has made two complete trips around the United States.

Hitting many factory towns and cities on his tours, he has talked to hundreds of manufacturers, and been talked at by them.

McClellan's conclusions from all these interviews is that United States business now enjoys a mature economy. There is no longer any need for boom or bust in business cycles.

He does not find that the U. S. economy is now in any recession. Stock values, as represented on the rising stock market, are sound. This rise of many manufacturing stocks to postwar highs does not mean that the United States is going through another boom, McClellan cautions. There is no large volume of stock buying on margin—no speculative boom like there was in the late 1920's, he points out.

The present status of the country as a whole, says the NAM president, is that it's in a period of transition. The government is moving towards a balanced budget. Government spending in the next fiscal year will be nearly $6 billion less than this year.

The government is relieving the taxpayer of that much in taxes, and that's healthful. Whatever ill effects there are in a transition period—like temporarily reduced employment—can be weathered, says McClellan.

As for the future, McClellan goes pretty far over on the optimistic side. People used to talk about the United States having a maximum population of 150 million, he recalls. But the population today is 161 million. By 1975 it may be 190 million. That, to a businessman, means simply that many more customers.

It means that corporate investment by 1975 should be double what it is today, McClellan maintains, and he also says that the United States is still somewhat behind on its capital investments.

Of the $80 billion of new capital invested since the end of the war, only 20 per cent went into business expansion, he says. The other 80 per cent actually represented replacement of old manufacturing capacity rather than the creation of new capacity.

McClellan says he believes that this situation will be changed as corporation taxes are further reduced. Like nearly all businessmen, he believes the present 52 per cent tax rate on corporation taxes is too high. Thirty per cent of the government's income now comes from corporation taxes, he declares.

"We're not in business to keep the government rolling," he says. "We make the country roll because we make our own companies roll."

This year's federal tax cuts—now estimated at $7 billion—is the largest reduction, dollar-wise, in U. S. history. But it still isn't enough to satisfy the N.A.M. president. He does not compromise on any plan to cut corporation taxes and raise individual exemptions at the same time—say next year.

"The burden of taxes should be shared by all," says McClellan. But he thinks the government should look further at excise taxes to see if they couldn't be reduced still more.

On the labor front, N.A.M. President McClellan lines up as being considerably more pessimistic than he is on the business outlook. He does not regard the present three to four million unemployed — calculated on a new scale — as excessive. In recent times the country has had what he calls "full employment plus," in which there was a real shortage of competent workers.

He would "hate to see the unemployment insurance rate raised now." This law was enacted in 1935 and we still don't know enough about it to make it work, he says. California, for example, was for a time paying out $10 million a month more than it took in.

Similarly, on social security, McClellan maintains not that it should be terminated—but that it should not be changed further until the benefits and the needs of the people are better known. The law has already been changed five times.

McClellan says, "I don't think much of the minimum-wage program."

Of Great Britain's 23 million employed people, about 9½ million belong to unions.

History of Weapons Tends to Stress Nations Won't Stop Wars Because of H-Bomb

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 1—"No more world wars?" That's the wishful query which the terrifying tests of the H-bomb has propounded but there is nothing in human experience which indicates that nations have ever been scared into peace just because terrible weapons have been invented.

After the close of World War 1, the late President Wilson made speeches about the awful bombing and devastation that would come if another world war were fought, and he told his audiences of the new inventions of weapons of horror—the block busters that would kill civilians—but these didn't stop World War 2 from breaking out.

The alternate testing of the H-bomb by Soviet Russia and by the United States is reminescent of every armament race in history. Each side thinks the other will be frightened into selfrestraint and that aggression will never occur again. But it does. And the reason it does is that neither side, when it starts a little war or defends itsself against a local aggression thinks the conflict will develop into anything bigger.

The most conspicuous fact about today's situation in the world is that neither Soviet Russia nor the United States will want to use the H-bomb but nobody can be sure that either side will not do so if it thinks it must defend itself against the use of such a weapon by the enemy.

The Secretary of Defense has said that he cannot imagine the United States developing atomic weapons and not using them. Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says that if there is to be any limitation of armament by agreement, it cannot be on the basis of atomic weapons only and that there must be limitation on ground armies as well and on conventional weapons, too.

This is an important observation because obviously if H-bombs and A-bombs were to be outlawed or by mutual consent withheld from employment, just as was the case with poison gas in World War 2, the superior strength of Soviet Russia's ground armies would be decisive in Europe.

The "new look" for America's military establishment has been predicated on the use of atomic weapons. Air power has been strengthened on the theory that America must be able, if necessary, to carry the bomb from overseas bases and from the decks of naval aircraft carriers. If the big bombs were outlawed, it would mean a complete revision of the military setup of the United States. This, according to the President, is not contemplated.

But, even assuming that neither side wants to start a big war, the danger is that Soviet Russia might continue to carry on the "cold war" by intensifying the war in Indo-China so that it becomes a second Korea. What then would American policy be?

Former Secretary of State Acheson has stated publicly his belief that America must be resigned to little wars and particularly to more wars like Korea. But President Eisenhower has, in effect, repudiated the Acheson concept. At the Wednesday press conference, the President was asked if American troops were to be deployed all around the world. He answered that he can conceive of no greater disadvantage to America than to be employing its own ground forces, and any other kind of forces, in great numbers around the world meeting each little situation as it arises.

Mr. Eisenhower added that the United States is trying to make her friends strong enough to take care of local situations by themselves with financial, moral and political aid but with military help only where America's vital interests demand it.

This is the most important statement of American policy that could be made at the moment. It is an authoritative pronouncement of how the United States plans to help enforce world peace. But the President was careful to point out that each case has its own degree of risk for the United States and each must be met on its merits, and he would not generalize.

Such a pronouncement wisely leaves unanswered the question of when America will refuse to be drawn further into a lot of local wars and will consider what can be done to cure the infection at its source. That is what "massive retaliation," as proclaimed by Secretary Dulles, could mean and, despite criticism here and there from the appeasers or the politicians who feel they must oppose for partisan reasons American military and foreign policy, the decision will stick. Soviet Russia is on notice that she cannot expect to drain American resources and those of the free world by a series of local wars like Korea without running the risk of drastic action being taken against herself as a partner in any future aggressions.

War is a terrible thing, but America is not going to follow the pacifist line and find herself eventually dragged into war anyhow. The surest deterrent to a world war is adequate preparation militarily, a resolute and clear-cut policy announced in advance to the world, and our willingness to go to war, if need be, no matter what the cost, if the enemy takes steps that really threaten our safety. President Eisenhower is a military man. He doesn't want war, but he doesn't think it can be avoided merely by hoping the devil will become a saint.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—There is a fascinating quality in the audacity of a New York woman of middle-age who publishes the New York Post, in rolling on her tongue as it were, salacious scandals which have no effect but to humiliate innocent persons. This woman's name is Dorothy Schiff, although she has had four husbands to date and is known fitfully by their names, too, which are Hall, Backer, Thackrey and Sonneborn.

Her paper and her editor are currently in court proceedings against Walter Winchell, alleging that he said the paper and the editor were communistic to a great or less extent. The editor is James Wechsler who admits that he was a member of the Young Communist League, but insists that he apostatized. His wife makes the same admission and contention as to herself.

Mrs. Schiff is a member of the rich family of New York bankers of the House of Kuhn-Loeb which, in the First World War, was to the German empire as J. P. Morgan was to the British empire and France. In that figurative sense, Kuhn-Loeb lost the war and the house of Morgan won it. Both houses were, and remain, "internationalist." As to the communism of the Post under the Schiff woman the court will decide.

As to the sentiments of the House of Morgan, I will say that I met the late Tom Lamont socially in the company of two leading Communists, not knowing, myself, that they were to be present or, indeed, as firmly as I know now, that they were Communists. But later I called on Lamont's son, Tom, at J. P. Morgan and Co., and charged that his father was "working both sides of the street." Old Tom had subsidized his other son, Corliss, for an income of $60,000 a year, after taxes. The record of Corliss Lamont, as to communism, need not be examined in detail here. Young Tom excused his father's indulgence on the ground that the old man had no right to dictate his son's political activities and belief. Actually, the Red political influence in the Lamont family was exercised by the mother, a quarrelsome, extravagant, arbitrary old woman who was described by a leading member of the American mission at the Versailles Conference and also by an ex-President of the United States as the "Reddest" American in Paris at that time.

In 1907 Foulke E. Brandt, a young Swede, employed by Mortimer L. Schiff, of the Kuhn-Loeb firm, was fired from his job as butler. The cause alleged but at a later date, was that he had written an "impudent" letter to Mrs. Schiff, the banker's wife and mother of the present publisher, who was then a little girl.

Brandt was railroaded to prison for 30 years and was sent to Dannemora, the "Siberia" of the New York prison system.

Ferdinand Pecora, a retired judge of the Supreme Court of New York county, recently told me that the sentence was in his professional opinion "absolutely atrocious." The prisoner, a boy of 21 and a "greenhorn" in a strange land, had made a plea of guilty to a charge of burglarly where no burglary had been committed. And he had received the absolute maximum although he made a plea of guilty and the theft alleged against him had been trifling. He also claimed, later, that he had been lured into his plea of guilty by promises of lenity.

In a subsequent crusade by William Randolph Hearst to revoke the outrage the fact was shown beyond question that a "criminal" record against Brandt had been faked by members of the police department. One of the policemen involved made a full confession, but the question as to who would have had a motive and the money to procure such false evidence never was cleared up. Brandt served seven years before Mr. Hearst compelled the courts to set him free. But even then, as Judge Pecora pointed out, the "pardon" issued by Governor Sulzer, who later was impeached and removed, was absolutely unconstitutional.

Sulzer based his "pardon" on an abject and degrading renunciation of his rights of freedom of speech and of the press by Brandt which was read aloud at a public hearing in the governor's chamber at the Capitol in Albany. Brandt was compelled to promise that he would never discuss or write about the details of the case and there was a proviso that the pardon would be revoked if he ever should do so.

Schiff wrote a letter insisting that Brandt should withdraw aspersions which he had made against members of the Schiff household. Sulzer gave him his way. Judge Otto Rosalsky, who sentenced Brandt, was in a fair way to get another crack at him when he came out, but technical legal moves sidetracked him. After Brandt was let go, a New York grand jury reported that there was absolutely no evidence of a burglary. The judge thereupon ordered the grand jury to go back and make another report eliminating this vindication of Brandt. The grand jury obeyed.

Because Brandt was from Sweden, Senator Knute E. Nelson, of Minnesota, took his part and many Swedish societies joined him and Mr. Hearst in rescuing the young man from the fate of a Swedish Dreyfus on an American Devil's Island.

One paper in a current account published this commentary:

"Far from the Bridge of Sighs (at the old tombs) at No. 52 William street, in the banking house of Kuhn-Loeb and Co., sat Mr. Schiff yesterday counting his money. The queen was in the house uptown eating bread and honey and referring all reporters to her husband."

Brandt later returned to Sweden.

Fisheries College Urged

Vancouver, B. C. (AP)—British Columbia University's new fisheries director, Dr. W. A. Clemens, says he will recommend special courses for fishermen to help Canada meet the growing competition from Japan in world markets. The extension service courses would be designed to teach the latest techniqes and devices in fish detection and navigation. Dr. Clemens said the Japanese government established the Tokyo Fisheries University to train fishermen. He said 500 are enrolled, and 100 instructors are training them in detection, navigation, radar and other aspects of the technological era.

What, No Beer?

St. Louis (AP)—Robert Moore found himself accidently locked inside a tavern cooler room which he was repairing. With the temperature near freezing, the shirt-sleeved repairman shouted and pounded on the six-inch walls for half an hour to no avail. Then he had an inspiration. He cut off the supply of beer piped from the cooler room to the tavern tap. That brought Herbert Kempke, the tavern owner, on the run.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) -- Sidewalk scrawls by a pavement Plato:

Most doctors prefer to treat women rather than men, not because women are more attractive but because they are more sensible—at least about their ailments.

A woman accepts illness as part of life, but a man takes his health for granted, and it hurts his pride if something goes wrong with him. He is as surprised as if his fist had doubled up of its own volition and hit him in the face. He feels his body has betrayed him on purpose.

"Women are willing to wait until tomorrow to be cured," said one doctor. "But men always want to be cured yesterday."

Here's a good tip if you have to spend a siege in a hospital: Try to get put into a semi-private room in which the other patient is a sick bachelor physician. The nurses will be spending so much time pampering him they can't very well turn you down when you ask for a drink of water.

Would Reverse Result

The magazine ads often feature charming little picture stories showing how a young man wins his girl's heart merely by switching to a particular brand of toothpaste. This is fine as far as it goes, but it is only half the picture. How about the fellow who wants to get rid of a girl and doesn't know how? Can't they develop a toothpaste so repulsive that all he would have to do is brush his teeth with it once, and she would drop him of her own accord? There should be a big market today for a product like that.

Some young college graduates who now flock to the big cities wouldn't mind settling down in a small town—if they could find one so small it didn't even have a draft board.

Wives are so inconsistent. They will pat a dog on the head and praise him because he acts almost human, but, on the other hand, if their husband shows the least sign of acting like a gay old dog all he runs into is criticism. Will we never get rid of the double standard?

Actually Worried

Scientists have discovered that carefree-looking bums aren't carefree at all, but are actually worried and unhappy. It turns out that the secret of keeping your mind off work is to stay on the job—and think of something else. It is heartening to see how science is steadily finding out things the ordinary man knew all along.

Everything depends on how you look at it. A robin sees no reason why it shouldn't sing or build its nest in a cemetery. But the average grownup would be outraged if he caught a small boy squatting by a grave and practicing on a saxophone. Why are birds and children so much less pompous than big live people? Dead people aren't the least bit pompous. Just lonely.

Bible Best Seller

Why is it when you ask your friends if they have read any good books lately, none ever answers, "Yes, the Bible." Yet it is still a best seller.

The best way for a dumb man to get a head in a hurry is to marry a smart woman.

Money won't buy everything in life, but isn't it amazing how many things you can rent with it?

A hermit we know has just heard about the hydrogen bomb, and we rather treasure his shocked comment on it:

"Anybody who would build a thing like that must be crazy. Don't they know they're playing with dynamite?"

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Jump to Any Fast Conclusions

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you've looked at the bidding of today's hand, don't get the impression that there's a misprint. South did actually bid seven no-trump. What's more, he made it.

When West bid seven spades, North and East passed. Before South could say anything, East and West exchanged hands. South, much annoyed, objected to this exchange of hands. "Suppose I wanted to double?" he argued.

"Go ahead and double," said West. "We're cold for all the tricks."

South was so annoyed that he got up from the table and found a rule book on his bookshelf. He then read the appropriate rule to his opponents, pointing out that he had the right to bid seven no-trump, that they were obliged to pass and that he could call each card from both of their hands.

Just to teach them a lesson, South proceeded to apply the rule. He made West lead the seven of hearts, and he played the king of hearts from dummy,

Traffic Deaths Drop To Lowest in February

Chicago, April 1 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths dipped in February to the lowest level in three years.

The National Safety Council, in reporting that today, said motor vehicle fatalities totaled 2,470 in February.

That was 2 per cent lower than the total for February, 1953. It was the smallest number of victims for any month since February, 1951, when 2,350 deaths were recorded.

Here are the three leading cities in their population brackets, ranked by the council according to the number of traffic deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles in the first two months of this year:

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Jump to Any Fast Conclusions

If you've looked at the bidding of today's hand, don't get the impression that there's a misprint. South did actually bid seven no-trump. What's more, he made it.

When West bid seven spades, North and East passed. Before South could say anything, East and West exchanged hands. South, much annoyed, objected to this exchange of hands. "Suppose I wanted to double?" he argued.

"Go ahead and double," said West. "We're cold for all the tricks."

South was so annoyed that he got up from the table and found a rule book on his bookshelf. He then read the appropriate rule to his opponents, pointing out that he had the right to bid seven no-trump, that they were obliged to pass and that he could call each card from both of their hands.

Just to teach them a lesson, South proceeded to apply the rule. He made West lead the seven of hearts, and he played the king of hearts from dummy,

	NORTH	1
	♠ 4 3 ♥ K J 8 5 2 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 5 3 2
WEST (D)		EAST

John F. Palisi, 58, of 44 Clifton avenue, who has been a local postal employe for about 35 years, and who was known in his youth as a scholastic football and basketball star, died shortly after 10 a. m., today at the Benedictine Hospital.

He was also captain of the KHS basketball team in that year. He had also played football at the academy.

During his first several years in the local postal service, Palisi had served as a letter carrier. He was transferred to parcel post more than a decade ago and was with that department when he was taken ill last December. He had been at the Benedictine Hospital for about four weeks.

List of Survivors

Surviving are his wife, Stella; a brother Nathan J. Palisi of 484 Broadway; two step-daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Tubby of Kingston, and Mrs. Elsie Kelly of Savannah, Ga.

Wants Letter Stricken

Pasadena, Calif., April 1 (AP)—James Roosevelt has moved to strike from the separate maintenance suit of his estranged wife, Romelle, the letter he wrote her in 1945, admitting intimacies with nine women. A hearing was scheduled yesterday for April 9 on the motion by Roosevelt's lawyer, based on the contention the letter should be stricken on the grounds of public policy "so as to discourage any further harmful effects upon the Roosevelts' three children and other innocent persons.

Sees Financial Needs

Trenton, N. J., April 1 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner said today New Jersey will need to raise about 89 million dollars more next year to operate its government. He told a news conference he wanted advice on "how it can be done" without new or increased taxes. Meyner said he wanted "the people and the Legislature to know they have got to raise" 40 million dollars next year just to continue the present essential government services. He has recommended a budget of 236 million dollars for the 1954-55 fiscal year. The additional 40 million would boost the 1955-56 budget to 276 million.

Jury Takes Over

Washington, April 1 (AP)—A Federal Court jury takes up today the question whether union leader Ben Gold's resignation from the Communist party was "a fake and a fraud" or bona fide. Gold, 54-year-old Russian-born president of the independent Fur and Leather Workers Union, is charged with lying three times in taking the oath required by the Taft-Hartley Law.

Crew of Last Train on U & D Line

Here are train crew, rail officials and retired men who made trip on last run Wednesday up the old U & D line in the Catskill mountains. (front l-r) George Long, retired conductor; Howard DeGroat, supervisor of tracks; Emory Craw, retired conductor; Harry T. Lown, retired conductor; Chauncey Stewart, baggage master; (rear) S. J. Keating, trainmaster; H. B. Tucker, superintendent River Division, New York Central; Durham Casey, flagman; W. T. Pelham, conductor; George Burnett, fireman and Frank Falatyn, engineer. (Freeman photo)

50 Rotarians . . .

piano. There were many encores to "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Emory Craw, who had been railroading for 50 years, pointed out the many scenic wonders en route including the famous horseshoe. James L. Rowe and Henry D. Fagher, who had made the trip many times in days of yesteryear, were familiar with the historic points.

At Stamford the Rotarians were greeted by the Stamford Club and serenaded by the Stamford High School Band, which headed the parade to the Delaware Inn, where a delicious luncheon was served.

President Bogert presided at the luncheon and introduced Stamford Rotary President Dr. Sidney Solomon, who welcomed the gathering.

Hear Rail History

The main speakers were H. B. Tucker, superintendent of the New York Central Division of the New York Central, who traced the history of the old U. and D. from the start of the construction in 1866, and Henry P. Eighmey, a railroad fan, who related many humorous incidents in connection with the U. and D.

Rotary President-elect James G. Connelly expressed the appreciation of the local club for the gay festivities.

Trainmaster Stephen J. Keating and William J. Gaynor, assistant advertising manager of the New York Central System, also made the last trip.

The engineer was Frank Falatyn and the fireman was Frank R. Barton. W. T. Pelham was the conductor.

The old U & D was the principal and popular service for vacationists going to the Catskill Mountains before the advent of the automobile. In its heyday, the old "iron horse" carried as many as 600,000 in its peak year of 1913 over the 100-mile route across the entire Catskill range from Kingston to Oneonta.

Developed Catskills

The opening of the old U & D proved the great factor in the development of the Catskills as a popular summer resort. A new impetus was imparted to the mountain boarding business and hotels began to rise here and there in the valleys and on the mountain slopes and the whole region became easily accessible. It was also of incalculable value to Kingston.

From the Metropolitan area many came to Kingston Point by the Hudson River Day line steamers and there boarded the U and D train for any point in the region. The Day Line service here also has been discontinued.

Can't Call Police To Report Thefts, Telephone Gone

John F. Tierney, of East Kingston, an employe of Raymond Davis, who operates the Shell gas station at 215 O'Neil street, knew that some burglars had been around when he arrived at work shortly after 8 a. m., today.

Tierney said when he first entered the building, he saw signs that the place had been entered and when he went to the wall coin telephone to call the police it wasn't there.

The telephone had been ripped from the wall with only two wires left hanging on the spot where it had been. Tierney also reported a gum machine taken and a cigarette machine emptied of everything but two packs. He notified Sgt. Lemuel Howard at police headquarters of the theft and Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons were assigned to investigate.

Police were also notified, for the second time recently, that the Schryver Lumber Company property on Foxhall avenue had been entered apparently by youngsters. Nothing was reported missing.

Tierney said the gas station had been entered by a side window and a glass cutter had apparently been used to cut a section of glass. Whoever entered the place, he said, apparently brought tools.

All Island . . .

protruding from the barrier reef of the atoll, vanished. In the place where it stood there was a crater 175 feet deep, a mile in diameter. The deep blue water of the Pacific rolled where the island had stood. Into the yawning submarine crater, on the shelf of the reef where it drops off into 400 fathoms of ocean, was a great hole equal to the height of a 17-story building, capable of containing 14 buildings the size of the Pentagon at Washington.

3. Created was the largest fireball of the more than 40 atomic explosions set off until that time —3¼ miles in diameter. The heat at the core of that churning, brilliant man-made star presumably shot to a momentary temperature like the body of the sun.

Quarter of Manhattan

The picture included an imposition of the fireball on a drawn outline of Manhattan's skyline. It overwhelmed about one-quarter of Manhattan, blanketing Washington Square downtown and reaching uptown to Central Park.

The official estimate was that the area of "complete annihilation" extended outward in a three-mile radius; that severe to moderate damage reached out to seven miles; light damage as far as 10.

Two factors should be noted about this 1952 test and the theoretical application of them to big cities:

1. The 1952 explosion of the "device," while the mightiest up to then, was of substantially lower order than the shattering detonation at Bikini atoll last March 1. The latter is assumed to have been on the order of 16 megations —the equivalent of energy produced by explosion of 16 million tons of T-N-T.

Could Be Worse

2. The 1952 blast was exploded at ground level, which probably would not be the method used in a wartime attack unless a specific, pin-point target was the objective. Exploded in mid-air after being dropped from a plane, with the point of burst at several thousand feet altitude, the area of total destruction and severe damage would have increased by several multiples. The power of the blast might have been diminished, but the zone increased. The destruction produced by heat and the injury by the intense, instant radiation of the fusion bomb would have been correspondingly increased area, only slightly diminished in intensity.

The picture disclosed another peculiar characteristic of the hydrogen bomb, a pronounced lateral blast effect. The ugly, deadly "base surge" cloud of the bomb and the racing shock front flashed out to far greater width than any standard atomic fission bomb.

Killed in Auto Crash

Lumberton, N. C., April 1 (AP)—Mrs. Devorra Akerstrom, 70, of North Tarrytown, N. Y., was killed in an automobile accident yesterday. Her husband, Carl O. Akerstrom, and two other persons were slightly injured. Coroner D. W. Biggs said the Akerstrom car, driven by Akerstrom, was in a head-on collision with another vehicle about two miles north of here on Highway U. S. 301. He said the Akerstroms were returning from a Florida vacation. Biggs said those injured included another passenger and the driver of the other car.

Washington, April 1 (AP)—Congress has been urged to include apple growers in government price support programs in the future. John F. Palisi, Postal Employe Dies in Hospital

John F. Palisi, 58, of 44 Clifton avenue, who has been a local postal employe for about 35 years, and who was known in his youth as a scholastic football and basketball star, died shortly after 10 a. m., today at the Benedictine Hospital.

A veteran of World War 1, he had served with the U. S. Army, and he joined the local postal system a short time after the end of the war.

Was Court Captain

A graduate of School No. 5, he had attended Kingston Academy before the opening of Kingston High School in 1915. In that year, the high school, which absorbed both Kingston and Ulster academies, had one of its top football teams and Palisi was an outstanding player in the line. He was also captain of the KHS basketball team in that year. He had also played football at the academy.

During his first several years in the local postal service, Palisi had served as a letter carrier. He was transferred to parcel post more than a decade ago and was with that department when he was taken ill last December. He had been at the Benedictine Hospital for about four weeks.

List of Survivors

Surviving are his wife, Stella; a brother Nathan J. Palisi of 484 Broadway; two step-daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Tubby of Kingston, and Mrs. Elsie Kelly of Savannah, Ga.

Funeral arrangements by the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home will be announced.

Wants Letter Stricken

Pasadena, Calif., April 1 (AP)—James Roosevelt has moved to strike from the separate maintenance suit of his estranged wife, Romelle, the letter he wrote her in 1945, admitting intimacies with nine women. A hearing was scheduled yesterday for April 9 on the motion by Roosevelt's lawyer, based on the contention the letter should be stricken on the grounds of public policy "so as to discourage any further harmful effects upon the Roosevelts' three children and other innocent persons.

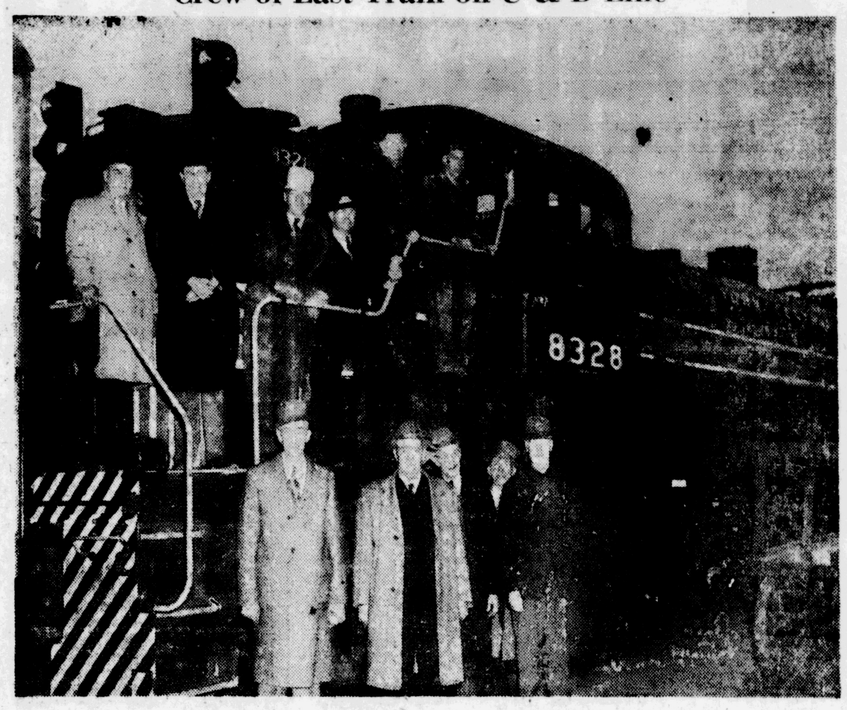
Sees Financial Needs

Trenton, N. J., April 1 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner said today New Jersey will need to raise about 89 million dollars more next year to operate its government. He told a news conference he wanted advice on "how it can be done" without new or increased taxes. Meyner said he wanted "the people and the Legislature to know they have got to raise" 40 million dollars next year just to continue the present essential government services. He has recommended a budget of 236 million dollars for the 1954-55 fiscal year. The additional 40 million would boost the 1955-56 budget to 276 million.

Jury Takes Over

Washington, April 1 (AP)—A Federal Court jury takes up today the question whether union leader Ben Gold's resignation from the Communist party was "a fake and a fraud" or bona fide. Gold, 54-year-old Russian-born president of the independent Fur and Leather Workers Union, is charged with lying three times in taking the oath required by the Taft-Hartley Law.

Crew of Last Train on U & D Line



Here are train crew, rail officials and retired men who made trip on last run Wednesday up the old U & D line in the Catskill mountains. (front l-r) George Long, retired conductor; Howard DeGroat, supervisor of tracks; Emory Craw, retired conductor; Harry T. Lown, retired conductor; Chauncey Stewart, baggage master; (rear) S. J. Pelham, conductor; George Burnett, fireman and Frank Falatyn, engineer. (Freeman photo)

piano. There were many encores to "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Emory Craw, who had been railroading for 50 years, pointed out the many scenic wonders en route including the famous horseshoe. James L. Rowe and Henry D. Fagher, who had made the trip many times in days of yesteryear, were familiar with the historic points.

At Stamford the Rotarians were greeted by the Stamford Club and serenaded by the Stamford High School Band, which headed the parade to the Delaware Inn, where a delicious luncheon was served.

President Bogert presided at the luncheon and introduced Stamford Rotary President Dr. Sidney Solomon, who welcomed the gathering.

Hear Rail History

The main speakers were H. B. Tucker, superintendent of the New York Central Division of the New York Central, who traced the history of the old U. and D. from the start of the construction in 1866, and Henry P. Eighmey, a railroad fan, who related many humorous incidents in connection with the U. and D.

Rotary President-elect James G. Connelly expressed the appreciation of the local club for the gay festivities.

Trainmaster Stephen J. Keating and William J. Gaynor, assistant advertising manager of the New York Central System, also made the last trip.

The engineer was Frank Falatyn and the fireman was Frank R. Barton. W. T. Pelham was the conductor.

The old U & D was the principal and popular service for vacationists going to the Catskill Mountains before the advent of the automobile. In its heyday, the old "iron horse" carried as many as 600,000 in its peak year of 1913 over the 100-mile route across the entire Catskill range from Kingston to Oneonta.

Developed Catskills

The opening of the old U & D proved the great factor in the development of the Catskills as a popular summer resort. A new impetus was imparted to the mountain boarding business and hotels began to rise here and there in the valleys and on the mountain slopes and the whole region became easily accessible. It was also of incalculable value to Kingston.

From the Metropolitan area many came to Kingston Point by the Hudson River Day line steamers and there boarded the U and D train for any point in the region. The Day Line service here also has been discontinued.

There are many here who have nostalgic memories of the old U & D, which now goes the way of the horse car and the trolley.

Field Tests to Hold Answers On Strength of Polio Vaccine

Editor's Note—There is only one way to apply the ultimate test to a vaccine: administer it in the field. That's what will be done this spring to an army of 500,000 to one million children. This last of three articles on the polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh discusses the questions to which this springs' trial will provide final answers.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

New York, April 1 (AP) — The polio virus could still have some aces up its sleeve to play against the brightly-hopeful polio vaccine.

Scientifically it looks as though Dr. Jonas E. Salk's vaccine can prevent polio by creating protective antibodies in the blood.

But how often might the virus attack nerves directly, avoiding the bloodstream where antibodies stand guard? Can the vaccine create enough antibodies to spill over into nerves, to halt that second avenue of attack? The field trials on half a million or more children can supply answers.

Are there some strains of virus which may not be affected by the vaccine?

Three Types Cause Polio

There are three types or families of virus which cause human polio. There can be many different strains or "cousins" within each family. The vaccine uses one strain from each family. Do antibodies against one strain protect against other strains in the type or family?

From limited tests, Dr. Salk finds evidence that they do. But the field tests hold the real answer whether some strains can sneer at the vaccine.

Virus for the vaccine is grown upon monkey kidney tissue, then is harvested and the virus is killed with formaldehyde. The vaccine fluid can contain infinitesimal amounts of protein from monkey tissue. Some scientists question whether the human body may create antibodies against this protein, antibodies that might affect the human kidney.

No Doubt About Safety

Dr. Salk says there is no danger since the vaccine fluid is treated and tested to remove almost all the protein. Even if antibodies against kidney were formed, they would be antibodies against monkey kidneys, not against human kidneys, he says.

"I would not give the vaccine if I had the slightest doubt about its safety," says the scientist, who has vaccinated his own children.

The vaccine faces one hurdle or problem common to all drugs or medical treatments of any kind.

This problem is that human beings are not all alike. Even aspirin is bad for a few persons. There is no perfect drug which affects everyone alike.

This means that some of the vaccinated children may, for some peculiar reason, fail to develop antibodies. How many people are built this way?

Reactions May Vary

Human differences also mean it is possible that some children may get reactions of various kinds from the vaccine, though it works perfectly for all the rest. The trials will tell whether there is such a possibility, whether it is significant.

Take any group of half a million children, and some are sure to die within the next six months from natural causes, whether pneumonia, rheumatic fever or other diseases.

If some of these had been vaccinated, the vaccine could be wrongly and hysterically blamed as the cause of death. Health officers, doctors and National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are counting on the good sense of parents and others not to jump to conclusions. The cause of deaths can be learned by autopsy.

Only the field tests can show the value or limitations of the vaccine.

If it doesn't measure up to hopes, active research is still being pushed on other types of vaccines. One uses virus killed by ultraviolet light. Others are based on developing viruses which have mutated or changed so they cannot cause polio, but being alive they can be powerful stimulants for forming antibodies. This type of vaccine could be injected or even used in tablet form.

The firm expectation is that children who take the vaccine will actually be protected against polio this summer.

Must Take Their Chances

Millions of other children will have to take their chances, as in the past, except that many will receive gamma globulin, the blood medicine which gives temporary antibodies against polio.

Many people mistakenly believe that gamma globulin or GG was found to be useless last summer.

It was pronounced ineffective for use in family contacts—giving it to brothers, sisters or playmates of children who came down with polio. By the time a child became recognizably ill, his close associates had already most probably been exposed to the virus, and it was too late for the shot of GG to do any good.

But GG was not pronounced useless in mass use.

A committee of experts said there was not enough evidence from studies of community-wide use of GG to say whether or not it had been beneficial. Most times, GG was started too late, or when epidemics were dying down naturally.

It said it could not be demonstrated that GG had any beneficial effect. But this also means it could not be demonstrated that it did not have a good effect. Evidence from carefully-controlled experiments in 1952 showed it could help prevent polio if given to children in time, and in the right dose.

This year there will be enough GG from the Foundation and the American Red Cross to give shots to about 1½ million children.

The Office of Defense Mobilization has recommended that the GG be used mainly by health officers among groups of children, and for pregnant women exposed to polio.

That means not single families, but larger groups such as camps, day schools, and other units where children are in close and steady contact, where one member or more gets polio.

Is Temporary Stop-Gap

Efforts will be made not to use GG in areas where the vaccine is being tested, since GG could be protecting some children with the credit going to the vaccine, or vice-versa.

At the best, GG is a temporary stop-gap, a kind of fireman jumping in to help extinguish the spread of polio.

The only practical answer for polio is a vaccine.

The field tests can mark the beginning of victory over polio—if it actually protects from natural exposure.

That big "if" will be answered by thousands of volunteering children, the main and tragic victims of polio for too many years past.

Shirt-Time Is Near For Taxation Office

Albany, April 1 (AP)—Shirt-time is at hand for the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

In the flood of income tax returns, department veterans predict, will be a piece of a shirt. Then they will heave a sigh of relief: The tradition is unbroken for another year.

The approach of the April 15 deadline awakens the muse in amateur poets, mathematicians and comedians. Even the surly get into the act.

One unhappy taxpayer, after wrestling with his return, already has written tax men: "I hope it rains and you can't find your rubbers."

From experience, tax veterans predict:

1,472 absent-minded souls will mail their tax returns to power companies, the New York Telephone Co. or assorted mail order houses. In return, the tax bureau will get checks in payment for phone and light service, hats, power mowers and rubber boots, etc.

13,589 taxpayers will forget to sign their returns.

144,652 will forget to take the 10 per cent reduction.

Despite these mix-ups, the tax men expect to collect 360 million dollars in the annual harvest.

Decision Reserved On Jelke's Appeal

New York, April 1 (AP) — The state Supreme Court's Appellate Division has reserved decision on margarine heir Minot F. Jelke's appeal from his conviction on compulsory prostitution charges.

Jelke's plea, heard yesterday by a five-judge bench, was based on a certificate of reasonable doubt—issued last October by Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Cox—on whether the 23-year-old playboy received a public trial.

Press and public were barred from the prosecution's part of the trial.

The prosecution argued before the judges yesterday that the sensational revelations concerning cafe society vice might have tempted the average girl.

Not Lurid, He Says

The defense contended that Judge Louis A. Valente deprived Jelke of his constitutional right to a public trial and that the testimony was not extraordinarily lurid.

The state's star witness during the trial was high-priced call girl Pat Ward.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard G. Denzer, defending Valente's ruling, said the exclusion order was justified by the "unhealthy atmosphere and salacious testimony of a disgusting nature.

George Washington Herz, Jelke's attorney, said the trial record was "barren of the salacious incidents and anatomical details heard in the average prostitution or rape case."

"If cafe society or Park avenue or any other large segment of our society is becoming decadent or depraved, the public should know about it," Herz said.

Charges Error

Herz charged that Valente committed reversible error by discussions at the bench or in chambers with two judges at the trial.

Jelke, free in $50,000 bail, faces three to six years in prison on the prostitution conviction.

He was released on bail last October after serving an eight-month prison sentence for illegal possession of two guns. One gun was found in his apartment and the other in his automobile during the prostitution probe.

The United States produced about 8.1 lead pencils for every person in the country during 1953.

Ash Blonde Is Chosen Mrs. New York State

New York, April 1 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Morrison, 24-year-old blue-eyed, ash blonde Long Island housewife, has been chosen "Mrs. New York State" of 1954.

The pert and pretty mother of a 4-year-old daughter, selected yesterday in the regional finals here, told newsmen:

"I'm so excited. It's the most fabulous feeling in the world. I'm just overcome with joy."

Mrs. Morrison, who will compete for "Mrs. America" honors in the finals April 21 to 25 at Elinor Village, Fla., added:

"The reason I entered was because I felt competent in the kitchen. We didn't have to appear in bathing suits—just aprons, with clothes on, of course."

Domestic abilities were among major points considered in the judging—in addition to charm, personality and poise. Entries had to make out menus, cook three meals and demonstrate other housewifely attributes.

But this year's "Mrs. New York State" looks good in a bathing suit, too. She's 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 108, has a 34-inch bust, 24-inch waist, and 34-inch hips.

Mrs. Morris resides in Wanta with her daughter, Lyn, and husband, Albert, an estimator a steel company.

Police Claim Raid Smashes Policy Ring

New York, April 1 (AP)—Police say they have smashed a 1½ million dollar a year policy ring through a raid last night on a West Side street cornr.

Seven New York city men were seized. Four were booked as operators of a policy bank. The other three were charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly trying to place bets when the raid took place.

The street raid was necessary, police said, because the ringleaders knew "the heat was on" and operated on such places as parked cars, movie houses and on the streets.

Italy produced about 33 billion kilowatts of electricity in 1953.

There'll Be Beer at Tracks

New York, April 1 (AP) — The State Liquor Authority temporarily has renewed the license of Harry M. Stevens, Inc., to sell beer at Yonkers Raceway and Jamaica Race Track on condition that a final decision will be made when a probe of the firm's operations have been completed. The SLA's announcement last night approve, as of today, the regular date of the license period. The authority canceled the Stevens' firm's license a week ago just before it was to expire. The SLA also announced it still is processing Stevens applications for renewals of licenses at nine other sports sites throughout the state. The authority previously said all the licenses probably would be processed within two weeks.

Tapping Almost Assured

Washington, April 1 (AP)—A federal wiretapping bill, to allow federal prosecutors to use spies' own words against them, was on its way toward virtually assured House passage. Originally set for House action this week, the measure was put over until next week because of a crowded legislative calendar and technical difficulties in getting it before the rules committee in time for clearance. The measure, approved 19-9 by the House Judiciary Committee yesterday, would make wiretapped information admissible as evidence in Federal Courts in involving the national security—treason, espionage, sabotage, sedition and conspiracy against the government.

Trim Controls

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The government trimmed its controls over materials to the bare bones today, leaving a skeleton allocation system which mobilization officials hope to maintain indefinitely for war preparedness. The modified "Defense Materials System" (DMS) will continue to guarantee and regulate the flow of steel, copper and aluminum to defense producers. But since few shortages remain, it will function primarily to preserve a control framework ready to use in case of all-out war.

Boston Lawyer Is Special Counsel

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The Senate Investigations Subcommittee today appointed Samuel P. Sears, a Boston lawyer, as special counsel for its investigation of the charges Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and high army officials have aimed at one another.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S. D.), who will preside at the public and televised hearings, told a news conference he believed the unanimous selection had broken a log jam and would permit start of the inquiry within 10 days.

To Start Monday

Mundt said Sears will start work Monday "and I hope the hearings will start the following week."

Mundt said the selection was made by "another unanimous vote, all six members of the committee voting 'aye'" at a closed door session.

Just a few moments earlier, Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) had made an unsuccessful move to get the Senate Armed Services Committee to take over the investigation of the whole McCarthy-army row.

Kefauver made his motion at a closed-door session of the armed services group, but not enough senators to do business were present.

Ballet Dancer Files Suit for $150,000

New York, April 1 (Special)—A suit to collect damages of $150,000 for an Ellenville auto accident that interrupted her ballet dancing career has been filed in New York county Supreme Court by Mrs. Ida Honig (stage name Inez Horne) and by her husband, Morris Honig, of New York.

According to her attorney, Harry H. Lipsig of New York, the dancer was a passenger in the car of Maurice Fixel of Whitestone, N. Y., on August 9, 1952, when it was in collision with another auto, driven by Max Forman of the Bronx.

She sustained head and other injuries, states Lipsig, that prevented her from assuming a role in the Edwin Strawbridge production "Pecos Bill," which was to open shortly and for which she had been engaged.

The two car operators are charged with negligence and full responsibility.

Headaches Mount As Excise Rates Bring Questions

Washington, April 1 (AP)—A billion-dollar federal sales tax cut went into effect today, with indications it may be a huge headache to the public, businessmen and government.

It is a headache that will be borne happily, except possibly by tax technicians at internal revenue offices.

Businessmen have long said excise tax rates were holding back sales. The public has groused at paying a 20 per cent tax on luggage, jewelry, furs, cameras, electric lights and theatre admissions. Government officials have said uncertainty over excise tax levels was holding back buying, and to that extent deterring recovery from the current business dip.

President Eisenhower, although his administration opposed the tax cuts, said yesterday he was signing the bill wholeheartedly, regarding it as a business stimulant.

The new rates, on hundreds of items, are effective on sales made today or hereafter. The administration calculates it will lose 999 million dollars revenue by the reductions, in a full year. That means 999 million dollars not spent on taxes that can be spent otherwise by business and consumers.

Butter, Cheese Lower

Another government action, taken by Secretary of Agriculture Benson and reducing the level of price supports for dairy products, also will mean consumer savings starting today Butter prices are expected to go down an average of about 10 cents; cheese prices somewhat less. Some stores said they would offer butter at 59 cents, but a 65-70 cent average was foreseen.

The excise tax changes brought a whole host of questions.

What about goods taxed at retail and bought on the instalment plan, with payments still running? Does the consumer get something knocked off the price now that the tax is lower?

What about transportation tickets bought under the old rates, still not fully used?

What about tickets to the theatre or sports events, bought before the rate reduction for an event that hasn't yet occurred?

Throughout yesterday "what about" telegrams and telephone messages streamed into the revenue service. It seemed everyone had a special problem, possibly calling for a tax refund.

The entire technical staff of revenue service headquarters buckled down to work before the growing mass of inquiries, to interpret the new law. Late yesterday they came up with these guidelines:

1. The tax is at the retail level on luggage, jewelry, furs and cosmetics and has been passed directly to the buyer. The tax went down from 20 to 10 per cent and should be fully reflected. On installment purchases, it depends chiefly on the sales contract as to whether the buyer gets a refund.

2. Levied on the manufacturer is the 10 per cent rate (down from 20) on cameras and film and electric bulbs, the 5 per cent rate (down from 10) on refrigerators, stoves, freezers and other gas and electric appliances, and the 10 per cent rate (down from 15) on sporting goods, mechanical pens and pencils and lighters. Manufacturers may get refunds if they supply evidence that rebates have been given to sellers Consumers would get refunds to the extent merchants cut prices after getting refunds. Most appliance makers have said the tax cuts will be fully reflected in lower prices.

3. On admissions, the rates changed generally from 1 cent tax for each 5 cents of ticket price to 1 cent for each 10 cents. This includes season tickets, and the new rate applies to all events scheduled today or after. The ticket seller can get a refund upon proof he has made a refund to the purchaser.

4. The rate on long distance telephone calls of over 24 cents dropped from 25 to 10 per cent. The rate on local telephone service and on telegraph charges dropped from 15 to 10 per cent.

5. The tax on passenger fares on trains, planes and buses dropped from 15 to 10 per cent. Generally, the cut is effective for transportation beginning today or hereafter. Thus, no refund would be called for on the unused half of a round-trip ticket. But for a cruise starting tomorrow, a refund would be allowed, if made before travel started.

KHS Choir Will Sing At Board of Regents Anniversary Meeting

The Kingston High School A Cappella Choir under the direction of Leonard Stine, will sing at the opening evening session of the Anniversary Convocation of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, in Chancellor's Hall, Albany, Thursday, April 8.

The choral group will appear at 8:15 p. m., and will sing the following selections: Holy Radiant Light, Gretchaninoff-Cain; Dark Water, James; Ride the Chariot, spiritual, arranged by Smith; Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor, Berlin, arranged by Ringwald. The final selection will be accompanied by a brass octette from the Kingston High School Band.

The Kingston group is one of two high school groups performing in this entire session, the other being the Glens Falls orchestra.

The Hon. Harold E. Stassen, director, Foreign Operations Administration, will give a featured address, Education, Path to International Understanding, at the initial session. Also sharing the podium will be Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, and the Honorable Frank P. Graves, formerly president of the University of the State of New York and Commissioner of Education, who will give an address, Unity in Education with Diversity.

The Board of Regents, in this 87th convocation, will observe three anniversaries: the 170th anniversary of the establishment of the Regents, the 100th anniversary of the founding of a separate Department of Public Instruction in New York State, and the 50th anniversary of the creation of the present State Education Department under the Board of Regents.

The evening session at which the A Cappella Choir will sing, will be presided over by the Hon. John P. Myers, chancellor of the University.

Mary Cassidy on Committee

Miss Mary C. Cassidy of 66 Fairmont avenue, was a member of the entertainment committee of the freshman picnic at the College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J., which was held Saturday afternoon.

Mental Hygiene Study Cause of Criticism Of Child Education

The widespread concern over mental hygiene during recent years has awakened a more critical attitude upon the part of educators and parents, alike, toward childhood education, advised Dr. James G. Cooper, professor of education, State University Teachers College, at New Paltz, speaking before the local chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, at their spring meeting held in the Audio-Visual Auditorium, of the George Washington elementary school recently.

The more general recognition of the close alliance of mental hygience and child development through education has profoundly affected the attitudes of adults dealing with the welfare of children. In view of these changing attitudes the educational program within our public schools is currently, therefore, in the process of a searching reevaluation which will lead ultimately to the acceptance and institution of certain basic principles and methods of training children.

Films Seen As Aid

It is Dr. Cooper's belief that many problems encountered in the rearing and education of the child may be either partially or wholly solved through the media of audio-visual aids within the home and the school. "Films, however," he cautioned, "should not be considered as the sole medium in audio-visual aid; as a variety of forms in this field of appeal through the 'eye and ear' of the child offer limitless possibilities in the guidance and education of the child as well as the analyzation of children's behavior. A simple classroom drawing in which a child depicts his home and family life or experiences becomes an effective medium open to all teachers and affords tremendous insights into a child's behavior."

Dr. Cooper suggests that slides may be used effectively with children. The many current animal series which colorfully portray the activities of animals with plots skillfully blending in a moral or ethical lesson have a significant impact upon children with noticeable behavior changes. Children often identify themselves more readily with animals in character roles of a story than with human beings.

Dr. Cooper distributed among the group complete listings of reference materials for audio-visual use both in the home and in the school. He concluded his afternoon's talk with the presentation of a provocative film entitled Bird Hunt. Bird Hunt is a moving story of an older and a younger boy and their experience while hunting birds. It is one of the current superior psychological films, produced under the auspices of Indiana University. An open discussion followed with members and guests participating

Preceding the program, an informal tea was held in the school cafeteria. The tea table was attractively decorated in an Easter theme. Mrs. Maude Bunting, a member of the George Washington School faculty, was general chairman of the tea and was assisted by a student committee.

A brief business session followed the tea with Miss Mary Polhemus, a member of the George Washington School faculty, and president of the local chapter, presiding. Important spring events announced for members include: a science weekend at Lake Mohonk on May 21-22 and the tenth annual conference of the New York State Association for Childhood Education and the New York State Association for Nursery Education to be held at the Hotel Statler, Buffalo, April 1-3.

Raymond VanValkenburgh, principal of School 4, and chairman of the committee in charge of the Alberta Davis Memorial Fund, reviewed the projects undertaken throughout the current year. These have included an eye examination, an audiogram, and the distribution of vitamin capsules to undernourished children. The fund services needy children within the Kingston public school system who are not cared for by other local agencies Mr. Van Valkenburgh emphasized. He urged all teachers to be alert to the needs of individual children in this category since the fund is becoming adequate to render an even greater service to our school children.

Robert B. Peck, Jr. Ends Forestry Course

Robert B. Peck, Jr., of the Kingston Lumber Corp., was one of the 31 students to graduate from the 18th Retail Lumber Training Institute held recently at the State University of New York College of Forestry, Syracuse. Mr. Peck returned to his firm equipped to serve the public in the home and repair and modernization field. Over 700 people have graduated from these Institutes during the past eight years. KHS Choir Will Sing At Board of Regents Anniversary Meeting

The Kingston High School A Cappella Choir under the direction of Leonard Stine, will sing at the opening evening session of the Anniversary Convocation of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, in Chancellor's Hall, Albany, Thursday, April 8.

The choral group will appear at 8:15 p. m., and will sing the following selections: Holy Radiant Light, Gretchaninoff-Cain; Dark Water, James; Ride the Chariot, spiritual, arranged by Smith; Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor, Berlin, arranged by Ringwald. The final selection will be accompanied by a brass octette from the Kingston High School Band.

The Kingston group is one of two high school groups performing in this entire session, the other being the Glens Falls orchestra.

The Hon. Harold E. Stassen, director, Foreign Operations Administration, will give a featured address, Education, Path to International Understanding, at the initial session. Also sharing the podium will be Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, and the Honorable Frank P. Graves, formerly president of the University of the State of New York and Commissioner of Education, who will give an address, Unity in Education with Diversity.

The Board of Regents, in this 87th convocation, will observe three anniversaries: the 170th anniversary of the establishment of the Regents, the 100th anniversary of the founding of a separate Department of Public Instruction in New York State, and the 50th anniversary of the creation of the present State Education Department under the Board of Regents.

The evening session at which the A Cappella Choir will sing, will be presided over by the Hon. John P. Myers, chancellor of the University.

Mental Hygiene Study Cause of Criticism Of Child Education

The widespread concern over mental hygiene during recent years has awakened a more critical attitude upon the part of educators and parents, alike, toward childhood education, advised Dr. James G. Cooper, professor of education, State University Teachers College, at New Paltz, speaking before the local chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, at their spring meeting held in the Audio-Visual Auditorium, of the George Washington elementary school recently.

The more general recognition of the close alliance of mental hygience and child development through education has profoundly affected the attitudes of adults dealing with the welfare of children. In view of these changing attitudes the educational program within our public schools is currently, therefore, in the process of a searching reevaluation which will lead ultimately to the acceptance and institution of certain basic principles and methods of training children.

Films Seen As Aid

It is Dr. Cooper's belief that many problems encountered in the rearing and education of the child may be either partially or wholly solved through the media of audio-visual aids within the home and the school. "Films, however," he cautioned, "should not be considered as the sole medium in audio-visual aid; as a variety of forms in this field of appeal through the 'eye and ear' of the child offer limitless possibilities in the guidance and education of the child as well as the analyzation of children's behavior. A simple classroom drawing in which a child depicts his home and family life or experiences becomes an effective medium open to all teachers and affords tremendous insights into a child's behavior."

Dr. Cooper suggests that slides may be used effectively with children. The many current animal series which colorfully portray the activities of animals with plots skillfully blending in a moral or ethical lesson have a significant impact upon children with noticeable behavior changes. Children often identify themselves more readily with animals in character roles of a story than with human beings.

Dr. Cooper distributed among the group complete listings of reference materials for audio-visual use both in the home and in the school. He concluded his afternoon's talk with the presentation of a provocative film entitled Bird Hunt. Bird Hunt is a moving story of an older and a younger boy and their experience while hunting birds. It is one of the current superior psychological films, produced under the auspices of Indiana University. An open discussion followed with members and guests participating

Preceding the program, an informal tea was held in the school cafeteria. The tea table was attractively decorated in an Easter theme. Mrs. Maude Bunting, a member of the George Washington School faculty, was general chairman of the tea and was assisted by a student committee.

A brief business session followed the tea with Miss Mary Polhemus, a member of the George Washington School faculty, and president of the local chapter, presiding. Important spring events announced for members include: a science weekend at Lake Mohonk on May 21-22 and the tenth annual conference of the New York State Association for Childhood Education and the New York State Association for Nursery Education to be held at the Hotel Statler, Buffalo, April 1-3.

Raymond VanValkenburgh, principal of School 4, and chairman of the committee in charge of the Alberta Davis Memorial Fund, reviewed the projects undertaken throughout the current year. These have included an eye examination, an audiogram, and the distribution of vitamin capsules to undernourished children. The fund services needy children within the Kingston public school system who are not cared for by other local agencies Mr. Van Valkenburgh emphasized. He urged all teachers to be alert to the needs of individual children in this category since the fund is becoming adequate to render an even greater service to our school children.

Magicians to Appear In Children's Program At Onteora School

Walter and Joyce Blaney, magicians, will appear at Onteora Central School Friday in a program which will present a fresh approach to magical entertainment.

Mr. Blaney performed professionally as a magician throughout his six years at the University of Texas in Austin where he also studied at the Department of Drama. While there, he created and organized the Austin Junior Citizens Club, an outstanding weekly program presented for children in a downtown theatre. He acted as master of ceremonies and directed the program which was jointly sponsored by the P-TA and civic clubs in the city.

The American Association of University Women sponsored him in a series of shows held in conjunction with Clare Tree Major plays. It was during this continued work with children that he developed his unusual talent in entertaining the younger generation.

Walter and Joyce have toured the southwest with their full evening show of magic and other entertainment, appearing twice on the University of Texas entertainment series, at the Texas A and M College entertainment series, and at many Army Air Force bases.

More recently the couple have made Dallas, Tex., their headquarters and have been playing the top dates in that territory. They were featured at the National Jaycee Convention in 1952, the largest convention ever held in Dallas, and have appeared at hotels, civic clubs, banquets, parties and have had many guest appearances on television. Having performed for the Texas Press Association at its 73rd annual convention, they have received much publicity recently throughout their home state.

Sickler's Delivery Meets Bombardiers Tonight in Key Game

Siena Hotshots To Face Speedy Dutchess Five

Valley Gardens, Otisville in Prelim

The big questions in the Kingston basketball tournament tonight are:

Can Sickler Delivery's phenomenal percentage on outside shots continue against the hard pressing Pine Plain Bombardier defense? .

Can Valley Gardens' "old pros" slow down the fast break of the Otisville speedsters? And, concurrently, what can they do about containing Dick Wilbur, who holds the tournament scoring record of 36 points?

The answer to these questions will determine in a large measure the results of a big doubleheader scheduled at the municipal auditorium.

Tournament officials expect a sizeable pickup in fan interest as the competition moves toward a climax.

Gardens in Opener

Valley Gardens, winners over Newburgh Kettersons, meet Otisville and Wilbur in the opener at 7:30 p. m. Pine Plains and Sicklers are carded at 8:45.

Otisville, the hardest running team to show to date, racked up a record 102 points in crushing the Brown Derby, 102-77 for the tourney record. Wilbur, who is headed for the Kelly Green of Manhattan University, scored 36 points and teammate, Roy Walker hit 22.

Chick Meehan, the former NBA pro, will be missing from the Valley Gardens roster and that poses a large problem for the YMCA Leaguers. Meehan voluntarily withdrew from the tournament when the question was raised that his competing against scholastic and college players might endanger their amateur standing.

With Meehan out, the burden of the Valley Garden scoring will fall on big Allie Hasbrouck, former Liberty Highland Long Island U. star; George McElroy, the Y physical director and Walt McCall.

Battle of Stars

Sickler's Siena stars hit on a terrific percentage of outside shots in winning their opener, 95-82, over a strong Middletown combine. Tom Carroll, chunky former Manhattan College player, set the pace with 27 points, mostly on sets. Jack Curry, 6-5 center, dominated the boards but one of the unsung heroes was Joe Walsh, speedy playmaker who controls the game.

Bombardiers' big three consists of Johnny Cottrill, who was subpar with 15 points; Don Myers, who led with 21 and Harry Hahn a good outside shot.

The duel between Myers and Curry for control of the boards will furnish one of the interesting sidelights of tonight's game.

Lakers Win First From Nationals

Minneapolis, April 1 (AP)—Syracuse, trailing the Minneapolis Lakers 1-0 in their NBA championship series today, needed a first class medical miracle to salvage its playoff hopes.

The Nationals bowed to the imperturbable champs, 79-68, before 4,579 here last night with two big stars watching most of the game as pained spectators.

Two Stars Sidelined

Dolph Schayes, who carried the Nats through the Eastern division playoffs with a 24-point average, played only four and a half minutes and took only one futile shot.

Earl Lloyd, playing his first game since March 21, hit only three points. Both are recovering from hand fractures.

The teams resume the best-of-seven series here Saturday afternoon before a national television audience and then move to Syracuse next week for two more, plus a fifth, if necessary. If Syracuse is still in the running, the playoffs conclude in Minneapolis.

In almost six years with the Yankees as a reserve catcher, Charlie Silvera has appeared in only 160 games.

St. Louis—Arthur Persley, 136, Red Cross, La., outpointed Armand Savoie, 136, Montreal, 10.

Mendez Nips Burkoski In DUSO Scoring Race

Collects 348 Points To 345 for Marvel

Gary Mendez, Poughkeepsie's All-DUSO forward, scored 348 points to shade Mickey Burkoski, of Newburgh, by three points for individual scoring honors in the DUSO basketball league.

Dick Bezemer of Kingston High was third with 330 and Mendy Ringel, Monticello, rimmed 313, according to official statistics compiled by Eddie Curran, statistician of the DUSO Sportswriters Association.

Skip Brodhead of Kingston finished fifth with 313 making the All-DUSO selections the top five scorers in the league.

Don Dahowski, Poughkeepsie, who was the No. 6 choice in the All-DUSO balloting, was also No. 6 in the scoring with 303 points.

New Records for Bevo

New York, April 1 (AP)—The NCAA Service Bureau today gave Bevo Francis a flock of new basketball scoring records to replace the ones the nation's coaches wouldn't let him keep last year. Francis, the 6-9 one man gang from Rio Grande College in Ohio, won the individual scoring championship among small college players and topped the list in 10 other single game, season and career records compiled by the NCAA statisticians. This season Francis scored 1,255 points in 27 games against four year schools, an average of 46.5 per game. The best previous performances were 970 points by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle in 1952 and an average of 38.9 by Roger Kuss of River Falls (Wis.) State last year.

Mexico City—Martin (Guije) Rodriguez, 126, Cuba, awarded decision over Humberto Carrillo, 127, Mexico (Carrillo disqualified in fourth round for repeated fouling).

Olson Still 3-2 Favorite Over Gavilan

Chicago, April 1 (AP) — An outbreak of rumors that Carl (Bobo) Olson had a head cold and that Kid Gavilan has a sore right hand today failed to affect the odds on their championship brawl at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Olson, middleweight king making his first title defense since clinching the crown with a 15-round decision over Randy Turpin last October, was a 3-2 favorite.

A week ago he was a 9-5 choice. In the meantime, Gavilan moved his training quarters to Chicago. The slide in odds followed a normal course and should be 6-5, take your pick, by ring time. It figures strictly a toss-up.

In Secret Hideout

Despite the phoney rumors, the clam-like Olson posed somewhat of a mystery on the eve of the biggest battle.

The balding, tattooed 160-pound champion, has fled to a secret hideout.

Before doing so, Olson was observed blowing his nose. He did this perfectly human act after trotting around in the snow for his routine four miles of roadwork. Word got around he had a cold.

Momentarily, at least, Olson suffered a case of nerves, and he wants to be alone. Before he moved to his hideaway, he was hounded by reporters and photographers to the extent that he was overheard to exclaim: "I'm ready to blow my top."

His manager, Sid Flaherty, added: "He's a loner — doesn't want anyone around — he's at a fine edge and all he's thinking is to get this fight over as soon as possible and get home to his wife and kids."

Meanwhile, welterweight champion Gavilan was his old, gay self. He displayed his footwork for an audience that included Mario and Floria, a dance team currently appearing in Chicago.

Jamaica Opens Today

New York, April 1 (AP)—Metropolitan racing fans who have been counting the long days since last Nov. 14 headed by subway, bus, auto, foot and railway for Jamaica race track today for the curtain-raiser of New York's 196-day thoroughbred season. The weatherman promised some cloudiness with the mercury in the 40's, and Jamaica officials looked for a crowd of around 40,000 to witness the $25,000-added Paumonok Handicap, the traditional first day feature. Ten speed horses were entered for the Paumonok, a six furlongs sprint inaugurated in 1906, three years after Jamaica first opened.

First baseman Rocky Nelson of the Indians formerly played with the Cardinals, Pirates, White Sox and Dodgers.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

The milk of whales has a fishy odor.

Lakers Win First From Nationals

Minneapolis, April 1 (AP)—Syracuse, trailing the Minneapolis Lakers 1-0 in their NBA championship series today, needed a first class medical miracle to salvage its playoff hopes.

The Nationals bowed to the imperturbable champs, 79-68, before 4,579 here last night with two big stars watching most of the game as pained spectators.

Two Stars Sidelined

Dolph Schayes, who carried the Nats through the Eastern division playoffs with a 24-point average, played only four and a half minutes and took only one futile shot.

Earl Lloyd, playing his first game since March 21, hit only three points. Both are recovering from hand fractures.

The teams resume the best-of-seven series here Saturday afternoon before a national television audience and then move to Syracuse next week for two more, plus a fifth, if necessary. If Syracuse is still in the running, the playoffs conclude in Minneapolis.

In almost six years with the Yankees as a reserve catcher, Charlie Silvera has appeared in only 160 games.

St. Louis—Arthur Persley, 136, Red Cross, La., outpointed Armand Savoie, 136, Montreal, 10.

Skip Brodhead of Kingston finished fifth with 313 making the All-DUSO selections the top five scorers in the league.

New Records for Bevo

New York, April 1 (AP)—The NCAA Service Bureau today gave Bevo Francis a flock of new basketball scoring records to replace the ones the nation's coaches wouldn't let him keep last year. Francis, the 6-9 one man gang from Rio Grande College in Ohio, won the individual scoring championship among small college players and topped the list in 10 other single game, season and career records compiled by the NCAA statisticians. This season Francis scored 1,255 points in 27 games against four year schools, an average of 46.5 per game. The best previous performances were 970 points by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle in 1952 and an average of 38.9 by Roger Kuss of River Falls (Wis.) State last year.

Mexico City—Martin (Guije) Rodriguez, 126, Cuba, awarded decision over Humberto Carrillo, 127, Mexico (Carrillo disqualified in fourth round for repeated fouling).

Olson Still 3-2 Favorite Over Gavilan

Chicago, April 1 (AP) — An outbreak of rumors that Carl (Bobo) Olson had a head cold and that Kid Gavilan has a sore right hand today failed to affect the odds on their championship brawl at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Olson, middleweight king making his first title defense since clinching the crown with a 15-round decision over Randy Turpin last October, was a 3-2 favorite.

A week ago he was a 9-5 choice. In the meantime, Gavilan moved his training quarters to Chicago. The slide in odds followed a normal course and should be 6-5, take your pick, by ring time. It figures strictly a toss-up.

In Secret Hideout

Despite the phoney rumors, the clam-like Olson posed somewhat of a mystery on the eve of the biggest battle.

The balding, tattooed 160-pound champion, has fled to a secret hideout.

Before doing so, Olson was observed blowing his nose. He did this perfectly human act after trotting around in the snow for his routine four miles of roadwork. Word got around he had a cold.

Momentarily, at least, Olson suffered a case of nerves, and he wants to be alone. Before he moved to his hideaway, he was hounded by reporters and photographers to the extent that he was overheard to exclaim: "I'm ready to blow my top."

His manager, Sid Flaherty, added: "He's a loner — doesn't want anyone around — he's at a fine edge and all he's thinking is to get this fight over as soon as possible and get home to his wife and kids."

Meanwhile, welterweight champion Gavilan was his old, gay self. He displayed his footwork for an audience that included Mario and Floria, a dance team currently appearing in Chicago.

Jamaica Opens Today

New York, April 1 (AP)—Metropolitan racing fans who have been counting the long days since last Nov. 14 headed by subway, bus, auto, foot and railway for Jamaica race track today for the curtain-raiser of New York's 196-day thoroughbred season. The weatherman promised some cloudiness with the mercury in the 40's, and Jamaica officials looked for a crowd of around 40,000 to witness the $25,000-added Paumonok Handicap, the traditional first day feature. Ten speed horses were entered for the Paumonok, a six furlongs sprint inaugurated in 1906, three years after Jamaica first opened.

First baseman Rocky Nelson of the Indians formerly played with the Cardinals, Pirates, White Sox and Dodgers.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

Giants Cut DownSquad

Beaumont, Tex., April 1 (AP)—Harry Nicholas, 24-year-old righthander from Valley Stream, N. Y., was optioned by the New York Giants to the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League today.

The release of Nicholas left the Giant roster at 30 players. Yesterday, pitcher Pete Modica was returned to Nashville of the Southern Association, while pitcher Charley Fowler and infielder Billy Klaus were optioned to Minneapolis of the American Association.

Nicholas had a 7-13 record with Minneapolis last year.

Nat Holman's Ouster By CCNY Is Blocked By Education Chief

Albany, April 1 (AP)—Education Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson has blocked the ouster of basketball coach Nat Holman by City College of New York, pending Wilson's decision of CCNY's action.

Wilson yesterday granted a stay to the 56-year-old coach who was fired as an aftermath of the basketball "fix" scandals.

New York City's Board of Higher Education said it had given its consent to the stay. The board on March 3 ordered Holman dismissed if he did not retire by tomorrow from his $9,000-a-year job as associate hygiene professor at CCNY.

Holman appealed to the education commissioner last Friday to block the ouster, contending that he had not been given a fair hearing. There was no indication when Wilson would announce a decision.

Holman was charged with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a teacher. He was accused of failing to warn the college of conditions in big-time college basketball. Holman denied the charges.

Williams May Be Idle Longer Than Expected

Sarasota, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Slugger Ted Williams — whose broken left collarbone has blighted the Boston Red Sox spring training scene—may be out of the Sox lineup longer than expected.

Dr. Herbert Virgin, a Miami orthopedic specialist, informed the Red Sox yesterday that Ted will not be able to go through baseball workouts until after the results of April 7 X-rays are known.

The tall batting star's shoulder is progressing favorably. Dr. Virgin reported in a telephone talk with general manager Joe Cronin, but he added he doesn't want Ted "running or doing anything that might jar" the injury.

Roberts' Spring Showing Poor Tonic to Phils' Flag Chances

Ace Hurler Claims Timing Is Off

(By The Associated Press)

Even the most ardent rooter for the Philadelphia Phillies will concede that without an effective Robin Roberts, the club hasn't a ghost of a chance of winning the National League Pennant. And Roberts' showing this spring can hardly be described as "effective."

Just what, if anything, is bothering the strapping righthander hasn't been determined. Maybe it's the heavy work (347 innings) he put in last season. Or could be he's just pacing himself. At any rate, Roberts is a far cry from the fireballing pitcher who won 107 games in his last five National League seasons.

Roberts went the route yesterday for the first time this spring, but he was raked for 13 hits as the Phillies dropped a 7-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers.

Has 0-3 Record

The time before that (March 27), the 6:1½ native of Springfield, Ill., was shelled from the mound in the fourth inning after he had yielded seven runs to the Chicago White Sox. His overall exhibition record is 0-3, which could augur a disappointing campaign for the 23-game winner of 1953.

There have been reports that Roberts is suffering from back trouble, but Roberts denied them.

"I haven't been to a doctor and don't expect to see one," he said Tuesday. "My timing has been off and that's the reason I haven't pitched well."

First baseman Charley Kress was the big gun in the Detroit attack yesterday, blasting one of Roberts' pitches over the centerfield fence with two mates aboard in the fourth inning. Steve Gromek blanked the Phillies for the first seven frames, but a home run by outfielder Stan Jok in the ninth off Dick Marlowe spoiled the shutout.

Gerry Staley, another of the National League's star righthanders, looked much better than Roberts.

The veteran St. Louis Cardinal gave up only two hits in seven innings as the Redbirds downed the White Sox 6-3.

Giants Nip Indians

The New York Giants, who look more formidable every day, won their ninth game in 12 starts against the Cleveland Indians, 4-2, as the Tribe committed four errors. The Giants collected only four hits, but Willie Mays doubled home the first run and Don Mueller singled in two more, all in the opening frame.

Yanks Flounder Again

Ending their worst Florida showing in the six years under Casey Stengel's regime, the New York Yankees dropped a 9-3 decision to the surprising Pittsburgh Pirates. The loss was the 16th in 24 games for the world champions. The Pirates won in the very first inning when they scored five times against lefty Bob Wiesler.

Gil Hodges' homer sparked a 12-hit Brooklyn attack as the Dodgers whipped the Milwaukee Braves 10-7 in a game called at the end of the eighth to permit the clubs to make a train.

The improving Washington Senators broke loose for five runs in the sixth frame to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 9-2.

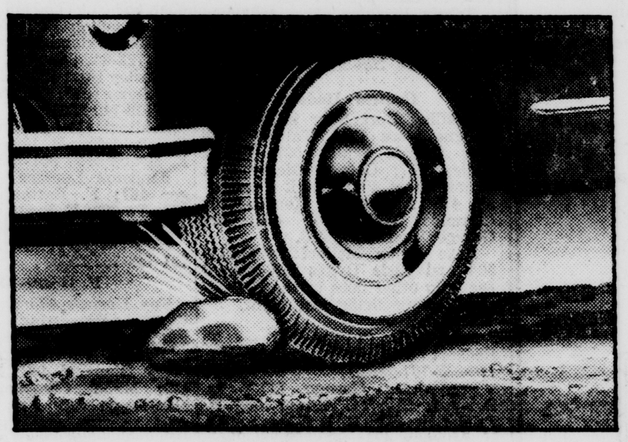
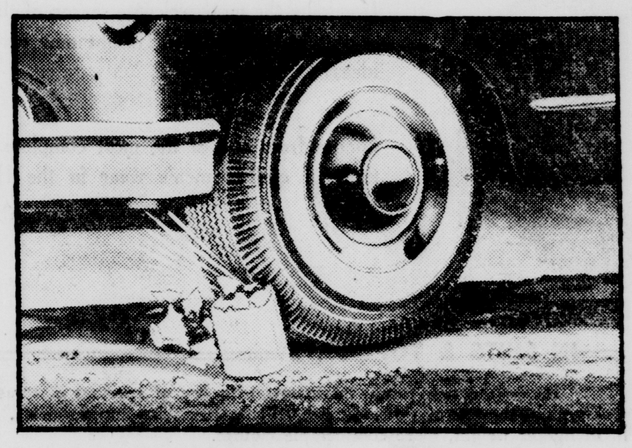
All Safety Tires Aren't Alike...Only the Firestone Supreme Protects You Against All these Dangers



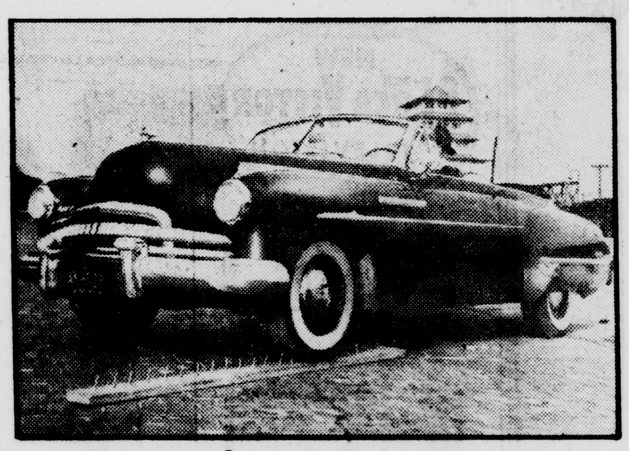
Delayed-Action Blowouts

Most blowouts are caused by broken cords of the tire body chaffing a tube, following a severe impact with a rock or other blunt object. In this new safety tire, the tube is replaced by an air-tight butyl Safti-Liner that is an integral part of the tire. There's no tube to pinch or blowout when injury to the tire body occurs.



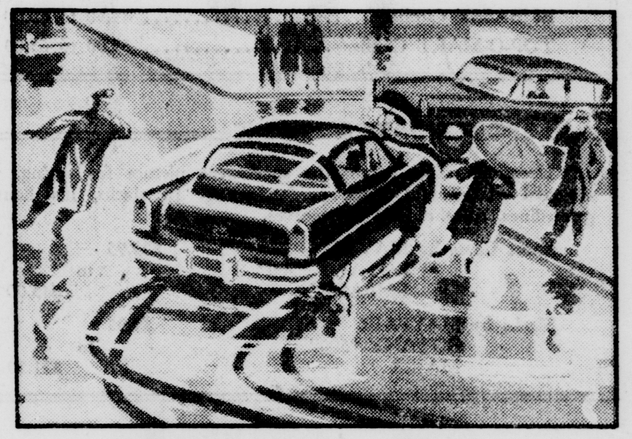
Instantaneous Blowouts

Any tire can blow out instantly when cut by a broken bottle, a scrap of metal, or similar sharp object. But only the Firestone Supreme can prevent an accident because it has a special emergency tire inside which holds enough air to allow you to come to a safe straight-line stop.



Hazardous Punctures

Inside this tire is a puncture-sealing material which adheres to nails and other penetrating objects and prevents air loss, enabling you to continue on to your destination without interruption.



Dangerous Skids

Maximum protection against skids because of wider tread contact with the road . . . More gripping power per square inch because of special Traction Boosters and Skid Resisters.

Strohs Beers Fire 3089 in ABC Tourney

Seattle, April 1 (AP)—A Detroit team has latched onto first place in the open team division of the 51st American Bowling Congress.

Strohs Beers, led by team captain Buzz Fazio, rolled a 3089 here last night to take the lead.

Fazio rolled games of 233-223-203 for a 659. But he had plenty of help from teammates Ed Lubanski who rolled a 653 and Tonly Lindermann who posted a 638.

The high team score broke up a tie between the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Works of Milwaukee and the King Louis Shirts of Chicago, who had led with a 2984.

Twenty years ago, a Strohs team took the ABC Open title with a 3089 tally.

Sparando Hits 300

The only other change in the open division saw the strong local contender, Standard Service Tire of Seattle, roll a 2898 for sixth place.

The Strohs' team high score provided a major change in yesterday's tournament action but it was overshadowed by Tony Sparando's 300 game—the 13th in the history of the 51-year-old Congress.

Sparando, a 48-year-old bowling center proprietor from Rego Park, N. Y., cracked the illustrious circle of 300 tourney bowlers in the first game of his singles competition and later went on to turn in games of 245 and 178 for a series total of 723. That gave him the lead in individual standings and his three-event total of 1867 moved him into third place in the all-events.

Big Bill Johnson, the mid-town automobile salesman who has been troubled with a sore arm for the major portion of the 1953-54 tenpin campaign, failed to show any trace of his illness Wednesday night when he cracked a sizzling 670 triple to lead the Central Rec Major League firing at the Railroad avenue drives.

Johnson opened with a modest 196 and came back strong with counts of 210 and a blazing 264 to pile up the No. 1 total for the night.

Four other Central Rec Major keglers came up with 600 blasts last night.

Frank "Boots" Leskie posted 206-213-200 for 619; Fred Schryver 210-208-602; George Robinson, the KBA nominee for president next year, 200-202 for 601 and Whitey Crispell 224-600.

Bert Burr led the Central Hudson firing at the Bowlodrome with 226-572.

Rose Helen Mellert socked 211 and Dot Rawding 511 to lead the Friendship League at the Central Recs.

Joan Krueger's 190 and a 474 by Phyllis Wolff topped the pinfall in the Pioneer Women's wheel at the Bowlodrome.

Numbering Houses Started by Jaycees

The announcement of a new project has been made today by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce. Beginning Saturday, March 27, the Jaycees initiated the stenciling of house numbers on the curbs throughout the residential sections of the city. Through their efforts they hope to do a service for the citizens of Kingston by making it easier for them to locate specific addresses. This will be a valuable aid to those who are not too familiar with the city.

The Jaycees hope to receive donations through which they may further their successful youth programs. These programs include the local and state Teen Age Ro-de-o, Junior Golf Tournament, the proposed Easter Egg Hunt and Junior Tennis Tournament.

Two Attend Dinner

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Ulster County Real Estate Board, and W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional director for the New York State Department of Commerce, attended the Newburgh Chamber of Commerce Industrial Appreciation Dinner at the Hotel Newburgh Wednesday noon. The dinner was planned to show appreciation for existing industry in the Newburgh area and was attended by about 150 persons.

and telegraph charges, passenger fares on planes, trains and buses. The amount of the cuts varies.

Butter prices go down under an order by Secretary of Agriculture Benson reducing the level at which the government supports producer prices. The cut is expected to average around 10 cents a pound. Also in line for a cut were cheese prices, perhaps on the order of 5 cents a pound.

Held for Assault

Richard Cantwell, 31, of 45 East Strand, was arrested last night by his wife, Helen on a third degree assault charge. The case was put over until April 10 when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Police were called to the house at 8:09 p. m., and Officers William Snyder and Julius Glassman responded to the call.

6:50 p. m., that the sedan of Vernon E. Synder, 31 of Hoyt street, Port Ewen, was headed south on Wurts street and Porsch was crossing the street at the time of the mishap. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Another Mishap

Ernest LeCompte, 47, of Whiting, Vt. was arrested for allegedly passing a red light at Hasbrouck avenue and East Chester street after a mishap at that intersection at 7:25 a. m., today. He was fined $10 when he appeared later this morning before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Officers Bernard Fowler and Anthony Turck reported that LeCompte, driving the sedan of Lydia LeCompte, of Unionville, was headed east on East Chester street and Peter Szcypca, of 23 Madden street, was driving his sedan south on Hasbrouck avenue, when they collided. Szcypca placed the charge against LeCompte.

The officers reported that Lydia LeCompte suffered a laceration of the right leg.

Third Accident

Officers John Frasch and Charles McCullough reported at 2:50 p. m., yesterday that a parked sedan and another car were involved in an accident at Greenkill avenue and the new, short street built for the Broadway underpass.

The parked car, owned by Robert Stoutenburg, of West Hurley, and operated by Helen Stoutenburg, was on the short street. The other car, owned by Richard Bolter, of Woodstock, and operated by Percy Short, 55, of Glenford, was headed south on the short street between Greenkill avenue and Cedar street.

Short suffered a laceration of the chin and was treated at Kingston Hospital, the officers said.

past which has brought about great industrial growth. He cited the "vision" of Thomas Watson, Sr., and his associates which has resulted in the formation and present size of International Business Machines Corporation and he said perhaps there had been no greater "shot in the arm" for the Hudson valley than when IBM, as a result of "vision," had tapped the labor potentialities of the Hudson valley and located its plants in the valley. He spoke of the Poughkeepsie plant and the coming of the new IBM plant to the Kingston area.

Vision in the Hudson valley by cooperation of industry, aided by Chambers of Commerce and a valley-wide organization might well establish the valley as the country's greatest industrial center, it was indicated.

Arteries to Help

In his talk, Harocopo said the coming of the Thruway, completion of two additional bridges across the Hudson river and the valley's great transportation systems would be of far-reaching beneficial results and were the center of the objectives of the present movement to form a central organization to work for the expansion of the Hudson Valley as a whole.

Among those who spoke were representatives of the U. S. Army District Engineers office who said a plan was now under consideration to increase the depth of the Hudson from New York to Albany from the present proposed depth of 27 feet to a depth of 32 feet.

Auto, Truck Collide

An automobile driven by David Gillespie of RD 2, Saugerties, and a truck owned by Saugerties Farms, Inc., and driven by Walter Proper, 26, of Saugerties collided at the intersection of Routes 9W and 32 at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, about 2:30 a. m. Wednesday, according to a sheriff's office report. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone reported that Proper claimed back injuries. The front end of the truck and the left rear fender and wheel of the automobile were reported damaged.

Funds are "continually needed for the threefold program consisting of education, service and research," he stressed and he urged "each and every citizen to contribute freely to this worthwhile cause."

Three Fishermen Critical

Tokyo, April 1 (AP)—Three of the 23 Japanese fishermen burned by the ashes from the March 1 hydrogen blast at Bikini were reported in "fairly critical" condition today with their blood count "falling sharply further since yesterday." This report came from a Japanese doctor as a government official took issue with a statement by U. S. Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss that the fishermen's boat unwittingly was inside the official danger zone when showered with radioactive ash.

Numbering Houses Started by Jaycees

The announcement of a new project has been made today by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce. Beginning Saturday, March 27, the Jaycees initiated the stenciling of house numbers on the curbs throughout the residential sections of the city. Through their efforts they hope to do a service for the citizens of Kingston by making it easier for them to locate specific addresses. This will be a valuable aid to those who are not too familiar with the city.

The Jaycees hope to receive donations through which they may further their successful youth programs. These programs include the local and state Teen Age Ro-de-o, Junior Golf Tournament, the proposed Easter Egg Hunt and Junior Tennis Tournament.

ESOPUS FIRE DISTRICT OF THE TOWN OF ESOPUS, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK
NOTICE OF SALE
$1,500.00 Water Equipment Bond of 1954
$8,500.00 Building Bond of 1954

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the Esopus Fire District of the Town of Esopus, Ulster County, New York, will receive sealed bids on April 9, 1954, at 2:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, at the office of Howard C. St. John, 280 Wall Street, Kingston, New York, for $1,500.00 par value Water Equipment Bond of 1954, and for $8,500.00 par value Building Bond of 1954, of said district as follows:

$1,500.00 par value Water Equipment Bonds of 1954 of said district dated November 1, 1954, maturing $300.00 annually on March 1, 1955, to 1959, inclusive; registerable as to both principal and interest; purpose to provide funds to construct a well and purchase pump and equipment necessary to furnish water to the present fire house.

$8,500.00 par value Building Bonds of 1954, of said district dated March 1, 1954, maturing $400.000 annually on March 1, 1955 to 1959, inclusive, and $600.00 annually on March 1, 1960 to 1964 inclusive; denomination $700.00 of each of the bonds maturing in the years 1965 to 1969, inclusive; registerable as to both principal and interest; purpose to provide funds for the construction of a new building thereon.

Principal and annual interest payable March 1st in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the Treasurer of Esopus Fire District, Esopus, New York.

Bidders must state in their bids a single rate of interest which all of the bonds are to bear, expressed in a multiple of ¼ or 1/10 of one per centum, but not exceeding five per centum (5%) per annum, and must state the price offered; the bonds will bear the lowest rate of interest stated by any bidder in a duly acceptable bid, and will be awarded to the bidder stating the lowest rate. If two or more bidders offer to take the bonds at the same lowest rate, the bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering to pay the highest price therefor.

No bid will be accepted for separate maturities or at less than the par value of the bonds, or unless accompanied by a certified check or bank draft upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable to the order of the "Board of Fire Commissioners, Esopus Fire District of the Town of Esopus, New York" for $200.00 being two per centum of the amount of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon such check or draft. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned promptly. The check of the successful bidder will be retained to be applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the district against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid.

The district operates under the Town law, and the proposed bond issues are authorized by said law.

Winter Lingers

(By The Associated Press)

Wintry weather lingered on into April over wide areas from the Rockies to New England today. Skies were clear over nearly two thirds of the country early today and temperatures were below freezing over snow-covered sections of the midwest and northeast. More snow fell in New England and parts of Montana and snow was forecast for north central regions. Rainy spots were along the east coast and in the far northwest.

The guilty verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated about 10 minutes. Justice Macholdt sentenced Shultis to the Ulster county jail for 30 days or until a $100 fine is paid. Kurlanskys Are Found; Lamaris Names Three Cops

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kurlansky, who have been sought in conjunction with the trial of a suspended Poughkeepsie detective on four perjury counts, were reported picked up yesterday in North Miami, Fla.

The prosecution said Mr. and Mrs. Kurlansky, were among six persons indicted last December on perjury charges in connection with the gambling probe. It was reported that they had waived extradition, but the prosecution had no comment as to whether they would be called as witnesses.

It was Mrs. Kurlansky's complaint last April that her husband was losing money to gamblers which touched off the investigation.

Mones Involved

The name of Alfred Mones, of this city, came up in the trial as a person who had been associated with the operator of a Poughkeepsie gambling house as a "banker" or backer for a short time a few years ago.

Charles Lamaris, described as a former gambler, in testimony yesterday said he had bribed three Poughkeepsie policemen to protect operation of his horse betting business. He named suspended detective captain George T. Brophy, who is on trial, George P. Leadbitter, retired police chief, and William J. Owens, a former detective, as the alleged bribe takers.

Brophy is charged with giving conflicting stories before two Dutchess county grand juries probing gambling in Poughkeepsie.

Lamaris Talks

Lamaris told County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury that he paid $20 a month to Brophy. The witness, not specifying amounts allegedly given the other two men, said he started making payoffs in 1946.

Later Owens took the stand to testify about a conversation he had with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kurlansky.

After Mrs. Kurlansky's complaint was filed early one morning, Owens said, he returned to a gambling house with both man and wife but found the establishment closed. Later, Owens said, he talked with the couple outside police headquarters until Brophy arrived.

Move Denied

Defense Attorney Nathaniel Rubin then raised an issue over the time Brophy was supposed to have returned to headquarters with the Kurlanskys.

Owens had said 2:30 a. m. Rubin said the indictment against Brophy said 4:30 a. m., and the attorney called it a "substantial error" in the indictment and demanded a mistrial. It was denied.

In earlier testimony, Owens said he had a record of grand and petty larceny charges before he joined the police force some 25 years ago.

Owens pleaded guilty to 11 perjury counts and is scheduled to be sentenced April 6.

Owens has said he has been promised no favors for testifying in the trial. He resumes his testimony today.

Pays Mail Bill

Washington, April 1 (AP) — The Post Office Department says Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has voluntarily paid "200-odd dollars" in charges on mail originally sent out under his congressional frank. Jesse M. Donaldson, postmaster general in the administration of former President Truman, in October 1952 challenged McCarthy's use of the frank to mail, along with speeches which were entitled to such handling, reprints of a review of McCarthy's book. Donaldson said he was acting on complaints from persons who received the material.

Plan Against Risks

Washington, April 1 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today a Pentagon committee is shaping up a new plan for ridding the armed services of security risks. Hannah told the Senate Armed Services Committee the plan will be ready on or before April 7 and that Secretary of Defense Wilson will explain it then to the committee.

Move Denied

Defense Attorney Nathaniel Rubin then raised an issue over the time Brophy was supposed to have returned to headquarters with the Kurlanskys.

Owens had said 2:30 a. m. Rubin said the indictment against Brophy said 4:30 a. m., and the attorney called it a "substantial error" in the indictment and demanded a mistrial. It was denied.

In earlier testimony, Owens said he had a record of grand and petty larceny charges before he joined the police force some 25 years ago.

Owens pleaded guilty to 11 perjury counts and is scheduled to be sentenced April 6.

Owens has said he has been promised no favors for testifying in the trial. He resumes his testimony today.

Pays Mail Bill

Washington, April 1 (AP) — The Post Office Department says Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has voluntarily paid "200-odd dollars" in charges on mail originally sent out under his congressional frank. Jesse M. Donaldson, postmaster general in the administration of former President Truman, in October 1952 challenged McCarthy's use of the frank to mail, along with speeches which were entitled to such handling, reprints of a review of McCarthy's book. Donaldson said he was acting on complaints from persons who received the material.

Plan Against Risks

Washington, April 1 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today a Pentagon committee is shaping up a new plan for ridding the armed services of security risks. Hannah told the Senate Armed Services Committee the plan will be ready on or before April 7 and that Secretary of Defense Wilson will explain it then to the committee.
